A DREAM COME TRUE — Mrs. Zora Grubbs holds a portrait of her late husband, Frank, which she painted herself. Although later than he might have hoped, his dream has finally come true, a book of 105 of his poems has been published for his many friends to enjoy. Five hundred of the books are already in print, and Mrs. Grubbs holds the last five unsold copies in her lap. Another 200 have been ordered and are expected early next week.

Man killed in quarry mishap

A Bloomingburg man was killed shortly before noon Wednesday in an industrial accident while loading stone at the Blue Rock Division, American Aggregates Corp., Ohio 41, approximately two miles north of Greenfield.

William Mercer, 34, of Bloomingburg, was pronounced dead at the scene by Fayette County coroner Ralph Gebhart after a huge section of a hopper collapsed on him at the stone quarry.

According to Fayette County Sheriff's deputies who investigated, Mr. Mercer was loading a truck with a load of stone from an overhead hopper when the lower portion of the hopper crashed on top of the truck. The victim was crushed between the truck bed and the huge section of metal, according to the report.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies were advised of the accident at 11:20 a.m. Wednesday by plant officials.

Pat Riley, stone quarry manager, was unavailable for comment. Complete details of the accident were not immediately available, and Fayette County Sheriff's deputies are continuing their investigation.

The truck driven by Mr. Mercer, a veteran of some 10 years employment at the quarry, was a rig used only inside the grounds. The trucks pull under the stone chutes and are then loaded directly from the hopper.

The reason Mr. Mercer was standing on the truck bed prior to the loading has not been determined, deputies said.

In addition to his wife, Darlene, Mr. Mercer is survived by a daughter.

State department bombed by 'weather underground'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leftist, antiwar group claimed credit for a bombing early today that damaged four floors in the State Department headquarters but caused no injuries.

Telephone callers identifying themselves as members of the "Weather Underground Organization" warned news organization of the bomb plan and issued antiwar "communiques" in advance of the bombing.

A threatened second bombing at the Armed Forces Induction Center in Oakland, Calif. failed to materialize immediately.

The explosion in a men's room on the third floor of the State Department collapsed several walls and broke pipes causing water damage to the first through fourth floors.

There was a small lake outside the international conference room where Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave a news conference Tuesday.

"This was a damn big bomb," said Sgt. Charles Lightner of the D.C. Police. "It wasn't one of those blow-the-lidoff things."

Officials searched the rest of the building with police dogs sniffing for additional bombs.

Two other State Department offices in Washington also were searched but no other bombs were found.

A spokesman for the General Services Administration said a number of other federal buildings in Washington were being searched for bombs.

It was the sixth time in four years that someone claiming to be from the Weather Underground has claimed responsibility for a bomb blast.

A communique from the group criticized President Ford's request on Tuesday for $522 million in arms aid for Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Weather Underground Organization called the request "deliberate and outright sabotage of the Paris Peace agreement."

Advance warnings of the State Department bombing were received by The AP in Washington and San Francisco, The Washington Post and The Los Angeles Times.

The calls to the AP bureaus directed newsmen to communiques hidden in nearby telephone booths.

The 12-page typed letter received in Washington began:

"Tonight we attack the A.I.D. in the State Dept. headquarters in Washington, D.C. and the Defense Department in Oakland, Calif. Through them the U.S. government continues to wage war against Vietnam and Cambodia."

The bomb in the State Department exploded in a men's room next door to an office of a health officer of the Agency for International Development.

The State Department is closely guarded at all hours and visitors must have a building pass to get past the front lobby. The building was guarded at three entrances at the time of the explosion.

The call to the AP in Washington came at 12:37 a.m. and the call to the San Francisco bureau 13 minutes later. The State Department bomb exploded at 12:56 a.m. AP newsmen in both cities notified the FBI and local police after receiving the warnings.

Bomb located, detonated

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Helmeted demolition experts who found a bomb planted in the federal building here today carried the device out of the building in a metal tub and detonated it in the street.

Two small blasts set fire to an attache case containing the bomb, and it exploded with a roar that shook nearby buildings. A couple of windows on the third floor of the federal building were broken.

"That's it! That's the big one!" police officers yelled after the explosion.

Book made available to friends

Dream fulfilled by poet's wife

You said "that you like me,"
I'm glad that you do,
For my heart is already
In bondage to you;
But by all that is fair
In love...war...and such,
You should have gone farther
And told me "how much."

Frank Grubbs

By GEORGE MALEK

So wrote the late Frank Grubbs in the first verse of one of his 1,500 poems. And when his wife told him she loved him the day he died, he kidded her saying "how much?"

"How much" is eloquently answered by the fact that in the two years following his death, Mrs. Grubbs has fulfilled "Frank's lifelong dream" — one he failed to accomplish in his own 82 years.

MRS. ZORA Stewart Grubbs, of Good Hope, who is fast approaching total blindness, had a book of 105 of her husband's poems published, and to stake the publication spent the $400 left by her husband to pay for an eye operation.

Although Mr. Grubbs will never see the book he wanted so badly, hundreds of those who knew him will be able to enjoy his poetry for years to come. He wanted to share with his friends the verses he had penned, and Mrs. Grubbs' unselfishness has made the book a reality.

Strangely enough, there is little doubt that love of his wife was a primary reason Mr. Grubbs never had the book published himself. Apparently he desired the things he and his wife could share more than the book's publication. Although he repeatedly told his wife that they just didn't have the money to pay for a book publication, the two traveled extensively and made trips to Florida with regularity.

The efforts to please Mrs. Grubbs rather than indulge himself have paid high dividends. Her descriptions of Frank and their experiences together make a visitor vividly aware of his presence. While talking to her, one gets the feeling that at any moment he will enter their small frame house in Good Hope.

As it known by many Fayette County residents, Frank Grubbs led an interesting life. He graduated from Good Hope High School before he reached his 17th birthday and continued his education at Wittenberg University in Springfield. After only two years there, he dropped out of school and became a professional baseball pitcher.

He later worked in the printing and engraving division of the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington D.C. before returning to Good Hope. After returning to Fayette County, Mr. Grubbs became involved in local government. He served as a Fayette County Sheriff's deputy from 1940 to 1945 and served on the Wayne Township board of education and board of township trustees. He then served three terms in the Ohio General Assembly as a representative from Fayette County.

He was employed for some time at the Leesburg Citizen newspaper, and contributed regularly to the Washington C.H. Record-Herald and Columbus Dispatch. His poetry was published in all three newspapers.

Mr. Grubbs did attempt to get the poems published on a number of occasions, but things never worked out.

The late Mack Sauer, publisher of the Leesburg Citizen, urged him to have the poems printed and offered his assistance. However, Mr. Sauer died before the drafts were compiled, and the project faded.

A publishing house later offered to print a book of what was then Mr. Grubbs complete works, but they said the book would cost $8 to $10 per copy and Mr. Grubbs refused. "I want my book to be available to my friends, and at that price no one could afford it," he countered.

Time passed and there was always something for Mr. Grubbs to achieve. He served 32 years with the Fayette County Tuberculosis Association and 14 years as a Fayette County jury commissioner. There were vacations to be spent with Mrs. Grubbs, and then there was her eye operation.

She was scheduled for surgery in Chillicothe shortly before he died. He had taken a room at the hospital, not because of his health, but because he wanted to stay with her during her recovery period. The money for expenses not covered by his hospitalization was in his wallet.

When he died all that he left was their home in Good Hope, the money for her operation, the beauty of his poetry and the memory of 60 wonderful years together.

"Yes, eyesight is important," Mrs. Grubbs admits, "but not as important

Heavy snow, downpours hit nation

By The Associated Press

A sprawling late-January storm dumped heavy snow onto the northern Plains and upper Great Lakes region today and spilled rain over a broad area from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic.

Heavy-snow warnings were out in parts of South Dakota, Iowa and most of Minnesota and much of northern and central Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Four inches of snow piled up in sections of South Dakota and Minnesota during the night.

Freezing drizzle glazed portions of Iowa. Travel advisories were in effect there and in southeastern North Dakota and southern Wisconsin.

Thunderstorms brought soaking rains from Missouri and Illinois to Pennsylvania. Showers extended eastward to the coast. A flash-flood watch remained in effect for northern and central Illinois.

A developing weather system in the West triggered snow and rain showers in northern California and southwest Oregon. A winter storm watch was issued for northern Arizona.

Dense fog again drifted along the central Gulf Coast region.

Clear skies settled in behind the storm belt, in the central Rockies and adjacent Plains. Fair weather also clung to portions of the Southeast.

Unseasonably mild weather persisted in most of the nation from the central Plains to the Eastern Seaboard. Overnight temperatures in the upper 30s and 40s were common.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Butte, Mont., to 75 at Key West and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 28 cloudy, Atlanta 54 partly cloudy, Boston 33 clear, Buffalo 35 cloudy, Chicago 36 rain, Cincinnati 60 cloudy, Cleveland 38 rain and fog.

Temperatures hit 60 degrees

Overnight wind storm causes power outages

Scattered electrical power outages were reported by the Dayton Power and Light Co. as unseasonably warm weather accompanied by heavy winds moved into Fayette County early Wednesday.

George Winkle, manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. district office in Washington C.H., said the electrical power outages were caused when lightning struck a utility pole on Robinson Road near the Old Chillicothe Road at 4:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The lightning bolt caused outages at both substations on the circuit, according to Winkle. Customers in parts of the south and east sections of Washington C.H. were affected by the outage along with several residents in the Bloomingburg area.

WASHINGTON C.H. firemen were dispatched to the scene on Robinson Road at 5:47 a.m. Wednesday where they discovered the burning pole. They extinguished the blaze with water.

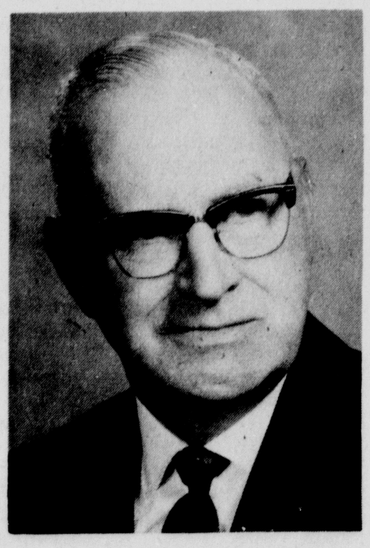

Repair workers from the Dayton Power and Light Co. were summoned and normal electrical service was restored less than two hours later at 6:32 a.m. Wednesday, Winkle reported.

Winkle said two other branch electrical lines were damaged by the heavy winds. He said the lines were located along Parrott-Station and Wentz roads.

Meanwhile, balmy temperatures moved into the Fayette County area Wednesday.

Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer, said the mercury reached a warm 60 degrees shortly before 8 a.m. Wednesday.

The low Tuesday night dipped to a comfortable 57 degrees and Washington C.H. received .20 of an inch of precipitation.

Albert Bryant retires from banking business

The First National Bank of Washington C. H. will be under the leadership of one less director and the same officers for the coming year.

Albert R. Bryant, 533 Mayfair Drive, chairman of the bank's board of directors, resigned his directorship due to the bank's early retirement policy at the annual reorganizational meeting held Tuesday.

Bryant, who has devoted more than 39 years to the banking business, served as the bank's president for four years before he retired last year. He continued as chairman of the board of directors.

He joined the First National Bank's staff as a teller in July, 1935, and was named assistant cashier in January, 1939, and to the board of directors in 1943. He was promoted to cashier in May, 1947 and to vice president and cashier in January, 1948. In January, 1967, Bryant was elevated to the office of executive vice president and to the president's position three years later.

Over the years, Bryant has been active in a number of community projects. He served as Washington C. H. city treasurer and a director on the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce. He is a past member of the board of trustees of the First Presbyterian Church and is presently a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Washington Country Club, the Bank purchases township hall for branch office expansion

The Huntington Bank of Washington C. H. purchased the old Jefferson Township Hall at public auction Tuesday with plans of establishing a branch office in Jeffersonville.

According to Richard E. Whiteside, president of the Huntington Bank, "Our plans are not real definite, but looking toward the future and if everything works, we are hoping to eventually have a branch in Jeffersonville with ample parking for our customers."

Whiteside was highest of four bidders for the building, built in 1902 on the original plat of the village of Jeffersonville. He purchased the 66 by 165 foot lot for $8,000.

The Jefferson Township board of turstees decided to sell the old township hall on N. Main Street in Jeffersonville due to increasing expenses to maintain the old structure. Having moved to a modern garage facility, the township trustees said they no longer had a need for the old township hall.

Harold Long, of Long Real Estate in Washington C. H., served as the auctioneer during the sale. Approximately 35 persons were present for the sale.

Whiteside said he felt the $8,000 bid for the building was "about right" considering its age and maintenance costs. He said the bank hopes to start and complete construction of a branch office on the lot in Jeffersonville this year.

Revamped PUCO pushed by Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Tuesday the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has been outdated by the energy crisis and should be revamped so it can make decisions in days instead of years.

Rhodes, appearing before the Ohio Energy Emergency Commission, said cases should be decided within 90 to 120 days rather than up to three years the PUCO now takes.

"The time is past when we're talking hearings that go for one, two years or three years while utility construction costs quadruple," he said.

Rhodes said he will propose boosting the membership on the PUCO from three to five and will suggest that it get out of transportation regulation.

"We have to have energy if we're going to have jobs," he said. "We have to act now. We can't just wait here and pray that this thing (energy crisis) will pass over."

Rhodes predicted that within five years all coal moved will be in gasified form and suggested the state move rapidly in developing plants to convert it.

He said his administration is planning to build $40 million to $50 million plants that would take sulphuric acid out of coal in Central Ohio.

After he left the governor's cabinet room where the meeting was held, Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, a commission member, noted that he already has introduced a bill to review and update procedures of the PUCO.

"We may run into a question of how fast you can change of a structure of government that has been operating over the years without any changes," Carney said.

Rhodes has said the PUCO has been operating the same way for at least 20 years, and that if Ohio's seven per cent unemployment rate is to be dropped it can't continue that way.

The five-member energy panel agreed to a Carney proposal to bring local government officials into Columbus for a seminar aimed at enlisting their help in conserving energy.

Many people don't believe there is a natural gas shortage, and think gas will be plentiful after it hits a higher price level, said June Brown, another member.

State work force cutbacks start in transport agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Director of Transportation Richard Jackson says about 550 employes will be laid off in a 5 per cent cutback in the department over the next three weeks.

"We're in the process of evaluating our own financial status," Jackson said in announcing the cuts.

The move will bring the department's payroll below 9,000 employes.

"We are trying to prepare a new budget," Jackson said.

Meanwhile, Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered spending cuts in other departments which he said were exceeding current appropriations.

"They have been spending at rates which, if continued through the end of the fiscal year next June, would result in spending in excess of amounts alloted by the Ohio General Assembly," he said in a letter to legislative leaders.

Howard Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management, said the big spenders Rhodes referred to included the departments of Mental Health, Rehabilitation and Correction and the Ohio Youth Commission.

Collier said he was not yet prepared to release figures detailing the asserted "overspending."

Jackson, whose department was not on Rhodes' list, also said he was taking initial steps for evaluation of a 10-year master plan prepared by the department under the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Jackson said he expected the detailed document "will be useful," but planned to ask the state Controlling Board for $30,000 to pay consultants for an evaluation.

"My concern is that the consultants determine whether or not these are proper conclusions," he said of the report.

The master plan suggested that funding of transportation programs, even on a minor level over the next 10 years, would require new or increased taxes. Tax increases would be contrary to Rhodes' campaign promises.

Top Rhodes aides make less money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly half of the top job holders in Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration are making less than counterparts in the previous administration.

Twelve of the top 25 officials — including the directors of economic and community development, environmental protection, industrial relations, insurance, liquor control, transportation, Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, the Ohio Youth Commission, and commissioners of health and taxation, as well as two assistants — are making less than former Gov. John J. Gilligan's officials in the same posts.

Ten of Rhodes' administration are making the same as Gilligan's aides and three Rhodes' officials are making more than the former governor's officials.

The directors of agriculture, commerce, budget and management, corrections and rehabilitation, employment services, mental health and retardation, highway safety, natural resources, welfare and the adjutant general are making the same pay.

Rhodes' top lieutenant, legislative liaison and welfare director all are making more.

Rhodes, himself, is being paid $50,000, a $10,000 legislative-approved hike.

Nixon hopeful of party role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says former President Richard M. Nixon hopes to help the Republican party as soon as he is healthy enough.

The Arizona Republican said Tuesday that he had lunch with Nixon in San Clemente, Calif., last week and that the former president's health is improving. He said he does not believe Nixon will run for office again but that the former president could help the GOP by participating in fund-raising dinners and campaigning.

Jeffrey Sheridan of 561 Leesburg Ave., has been named to the Dean's List at Milligan College, Tenn., with an average between 3.50 and 3.74 for the fall semester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheridan.

Rhodes ends ethics order

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. James A. Rhodes said Tuesday he will rescind an executive order that state employes under his command making more than $15,000 a year disclose their sources of income.

Rhodes said he doubted the order, handed down by former Gov. John J. Gilligan, insured ethical conduct or prevented conflicts of interest.

He said he thought the state Ethics Commission, which policies the conduct and conflicts of state, city and county officials, is geared to handle any charges.

"I don't see what the net result has been," Rhodes said of the Gilligan order. "I'm going to follow the law."

Under the law, candidates, elected officials, directors and deputy directors of all state departments — plus some city and county officials are required to file.

Gilligan issued his order last March after the new law took effect. An executive order not bearing an expiration date can be rescinded only by the governor or a court.

Jerome R. Bahlmann, executive secretary of the ethics commission, said Rhodes' action would create a gap among those required to file.

Gilligan issued his executive order last March after the new law took effect.

The Ethics Commission has the power to extend the law to some classes of state employes covered in Gilligan's order, but hasn't done so.

Dream fulfilled

as Frank's book." "I don't get out much, and I know every corner of this house." Her only guide in moving about is that she can see light and dark areas which pinpoint windows and doorways.

The road to publication was no simple task for Mrs. Grubbs either. Some printers wanted copyrights for a large volume, again in the $10 price bracket. Another would print only in quantities of 500 or more at a cost of $3 each. This exceeded Mrs. Grubbs means. Once the book was set for print and the printer kept the volume of poetry for more than six months without doing anything.

Finally Mrs. Grubbs found a printer who agreed to supply 300 copies at a cost of $1 each. Her relatives, Don King, of U.S. 22-E, and Carolyn Chain, who works for the Fayette County Welfare Department, read her husband's poems to her, and she selected the 105 to be printed.

They arrived just before Christmas and were sold within a week. She ordered 200 more and those too were all sold very quickly. She is soon to receive another batch of 200 and hopes eventually to bring the total to 1,000. "I think Frank would be pleased if there were 1,000 copies distributed," she said.

The books are being sold for $1 per copy, and Mrs. Grubbs has been asked several times why she refuses to make a profit on the volumes. "Frank didn't want to make money; he wanted people to enjoy the poetry," she responds. "I want the book priced so that anyone who wants one can afford it," she adds.

"Besides, when people have read it, I would rather that they said 'It was worth more than that,' not 'she charged too much.' "

In addition to those who helped her get the book published, several have been instrumental in its distribution, most notably the Good Hope Lions Club. The organization has taken upon itself to assist her. Members have taken quantities of the book and made copies available to their friends and business associates. Vic Rohde and Stanley Melvin, co-owners of the Fayette Street Market, have agreed to make the books available to their customers, and several individuals have been carrying copies.

Mrs. Grubbs has not completely forgotten about her operation — or at least she claims she hasn't. "Maybe this summer," she says. By that time Mrs. Grubbs hopes to be out of the book business, and she says the weather will be more conducive to surgery.

"Postponing the operation hasn't hurt anything," she offers, "When all the books are sold, I'll have the money for my operation and Frank will have his book."

ALTHOUGH THE Good Hope Lions Club has offered to help pay for the operation during the pendance of the book sales, Mrs. Grubbs won't hear of it. "Frank never accepted charity," she emphasizes, "And I'll get by just fine."

Mrs. Grubbs admits she and her husband never had a wealth of money. "Assemblymen didn't make much then," she noted. What little extra they had they spent together. "We visited 30 states and vacationed in Florida several times. She tells of the time "Frank" brought her to the floor of the Ohio House while the assemblymen sang for their 25th anniversary.

Her stories of their times together could fill more volumes than her husband's 1,500 poems.

They were, by far, richer than most. For more than 60 years they shared, and loved each other — and no one need ask, "How much?"

Shanty Club and the First Presbyterian Church and is actively engaged in agriculture.

RE-ELECTED to the board were J. Roush Burton, retired; Walter C. Driesbach, retired; Jack M. Hagerty, a realtor; Lowell M. Hayes, of the Downtown Drug Co.; Emerson Marting, farmer-auctioneers; Dr. Donald E. Mossbarger, a veterinarian; Willard H. Perrill, farmer; Jessee L. Persinger, farmer; Mark J. Schaeper, builder; Edward C. Vollette, general manager of the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C. H., and Glenn R. Hemsworth, bank president.

Hemsworth told the shareholders the bank enjoyed an attractive growth in loans, deposits and income during the year. He reviewed the success of the East Office expansion and how it increased the usage of the auto-bank features. The installation of the automatic teller machine provided customers around-the-clock banking.

The board held its meeting immediately following the shareholders meeting and reorganized by naming Hemsworth, president; J. William Wallace, executive vice president; Robert W. Tice, vice president and cashier; David C. Six, vice president and director of marketing; David G. Looker, vice president and manager of the Washington Square Office; Robert E. Harper, assistant vice president and manager of the East Office; Madeline D. Ebert, assistant cashier; Robert E. English, loan officer, and Gary P. Dunn, loan officer.

John Tavener, of the BancOhio Corporation, which the First National Bank of Washington C. H. is affiliated, represented the holding company at the stockholders meeting.

Stock list up again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed upward again today in brisk trading after an early pause for some profit taking.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.59 at 697.36. Gainers had virtually caught up with losers after trailing by about a 3-2 margin earlier.

It appeared some new buying came into the market when an expected round of profit taking at the outset proved to be mild. Some investors also evidently took it as a bullish sign that the market had not reacted more negatively to the news that the government's index of leading economic indicators posted its fifth straight monthly drop in December.

Sony Corp., the most active issue on the Big Board, rose ¼ to 6.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .23 at 3.01.

Big Board volume for the first two hours totaled 9.10 million shares—active by ordinary standards but well below the extraordinarily heavy pace of Monday and Tuesday.

Crash probe turns to controllers

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The investigation into last month's crash of a Trans World Airlines jetliner in northern Virginia is turning toward those involved in controlling passenger jets from the ground.

The questioning of air traffic controllers comes after pilots testified on the crucial last instructions to the airliner.

The flight was cleared for a landing approach to Dulles International Airport near Washington at a minimum altitude of 1,800 feet while still over the Blue Ridge Mountains.

The controllers, according to tape recordings, cleared the flight for the landing approach without specifying any altitude other than the 1,800 feet shown on Dulles landing charts.

The jet crashed into the top of a 1,754-foot mountain, killing all 92 persons aboard. Tuesday, TWA Captain Lloyd Brundage told the hearing conducted by the National Transportation Safety Board that given the same instructions, he probably would have made the same fatal choice as the pilot of the doomed airliner. While pilots are ultimately responsible for the safety of their aircraft, in bad weather the pilot delegates altitude responsibility to the controller on the ground, Brundage said.

The plane was flying through a heavy rain storm with clouds obscuring the mountain ridges. The FAA, which trains and certifies the controllers, contends that the pilot was bound to maintain an altitude of 3,400 feet until clearing the mountains.

But Brundage said the controller at the radar was best able to determine the safest move in the bad weather conditions.

Gilligan sets new office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Former Gov. John J. Gilligan and a former aide, Robert Daley, announced Tuesday they would open an insurance consulting business here Saturday.

Located in a downtown building, the firm will specialize in insurance sales and counseling. It will be known as John J. Gilligan Consultants.

Daley is a former Dayton newspaperman and was Gilligan's appointment as secretary during his four years as governor. He served as Gilligan's press secretary during his unsuccessful 1968 Senate bid.

Gilligan said he would maintain his Cincinnati residence and voting address while he does a one-year fellowship in Washington, D.C. He plans to write a book on government and serve on a study committee.

U.S. Steel profits high

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. reports the highest sales in history during 1974 and profits that topped a 17-year-old record by more than 50 per cent.

The nation's largest steelmaker reported Tuesday that it earned $634.9 million, or $11.72 per share, on sales of $9.34 billion for the year.

$108,327 recovery finding made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office Tuesday reported findings for recovery totaling $108,327 against various City of Cleveland accounts, an accounting firm and 12 employes of the Central Collection Agency in the city's division of taxation.

The findings will be turned over to the city law director's office for collection or settlement, said O. F. Knippenburg, an aide to Ferguson.

The findings resulted from improper payments, overpayments, duplicate payments and unauthorized payments, Ferguson said.

The audit covered the period Nov. 28, 1966 to July 31, 1969. Ferguson said a lack of manpower plus the technical nature of the audit delayed release of the report.

Ferguson said numerous computer programming oversights and errors muddied the audit process.

The largest finding, for $101,704 was against 12 employes of the central collection agency, a division of taxation arm.

That finding, against the city's general fund, cited improper payroll expenditures to and for 21 city employes which were charged to the agency.

State examiners said that because the payments were to non-agency city employes they should not have been charged to the 26-member agency, which collects and distributes income taxes from and to Cleveland and 25 neighboring communities.

Opinion And Comment

Jury duty for women

Fourteen years ago the Supreme Court upheld the automatic exemption of women from jury duty. In essence the court accepted the argument that women's responsibilities as wives and mothers warranted not including them in the call to serve on juries.

That argument had dubious validity then. Given the changes that have since occurred in our society, the argument is even less valid now. The Supreme Court has recognized this, overturning the 1961 case with a new ruling that women must be included in jury selection to meet the requirements of the Sixth Amendment.

The majority opinion written by Justice Byron R. White tells us that "the selection of a petit jury from a representative cross section of the community is an essential component of the Sixth Amendment right to a jury trial." And, it continues, "the fair cross-section requirement is violated by the systematic exclusion of women."

This decision is a significant addition to the array of women's rights - with, in most cases, associated responsibilities - affirmed in recent years by courts and legislative bodies. At one time there may have been a sound rationale for excluding women from jury duty, but as the Supreme Court now says, "If it was ever the case that women were unqualified to sit on juries or were so situated that none of them should be required to perform jury service, that time has long since passed."

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . . By John P. Roche

'Race' is strictly doubtful

Back in 1896 a gentleman from Louisiana named Homer Adolph Plessy made legal history when he protested being shunted from the white to the "Jim Crow" car on a train. However, like his French contemporary, Captain Dreyfus — a Jew who was an anti-Semite — Plessy was an unwilling hero. His objection was that, since he was only one-eighth black, he was white for purposes of segregation laws! (Plessy in fact looked "white," but his wife who was with him was quite dark and aroused the conductor's suspicions.)

Today Plessy's "blackness" would still be an issue, whether he wanted it to be or not. But now, among other possibilities, it would perhaps get him on the "minority" list for admission to law school or provide some institution with proof of "affirmative action."

Quite seriously, what we have seen in the last decade is the resurfacing of a whole set of assumptions about "race" that many of us thought had been outgrown. I, for example, have gone through life filling out immigration and other forms that asked for "race" with the simple word "Doubtful," and have similarly, and accurately, listed my "color" as "Pink." (The only "whites" I know are albinos.)

Nobody has yet made a convincing case for the existence of some hard genetic category called "race," and you have to have a lot more faith in your ancestors than I have not to wonder who may have slipped into the cave. I have an old friend of Irish-American background who literally turns "black" in the summer sun. (Indeed, during the war he was consigned to a "Jim Crow" car by some Arkansas conductor.) On the other hand the late Walter White of the NAACP once abruptly terminated a civil rights discussion with a Southern taxi driver. The latter asked White (who was very light skinned) if he wanted his "daughter to marry a nigra!" White said, "She is."

It would be funny if it wasn't so pathetic. A nearby college, for example, set up special provisions for minority admissions back in the late '60s — standards were eased and a huge chunk of scholarship money was assigned to the program. One of the successful applicants — call him Bill Williams — took a history course in his junior year and a friend of mine did some special tutoring with him. In conversation Bill mentioned he had graduated from heavily Italo-American East Boston High School. Playing a hunch my friend asked Bill a quick question in Italian, and he started to reply in that language. Bill was afraid his tutor might blow the gig, but he thought it was hilarious. Bill graduated, an honorary black so to speak. (Of course, the Sicilian Kingdom was one of the jewels of medieval civilization with a fantastic mix of Greeks, Italians, Normans and Arabs. Frankly if I had been asked to select my skin color, I would have opted for that Mediterraneam dark olive way ahead of pink.)

Along the same line, a correspondent tells me of a case of two equally talented sisters with a Mexican-American mother and an Irish-American father. The older girl applied to a university using the family name and was rejected. Her sister, taking the mother's maiden name, applied to the same school under an "affirmative action" program for Hispanic-Americans and received a scholarship! As I said, it would be great fun if it was not so pathetic. I actually saw a questionnaire distributed to every employee in a Federal agency which inquired, among other things, "How often do you have lunch with someone of the opposite race!"

The solution is obvious. If we are going to continue with this nonsense, there will have to be state laws defining "race." Here we can draw a lot of useful experience from the old South. If memory serves, Florida held first prize by defining as a black anyone with one-thirty-second Negro "blood." The most "generous" states flattened out at one-eighth, with one-sixteenth being the norm. Since blacks constitute the largest ethnic minority, we could perhaps draw a precedent from the Republic of South Africa and make Asian-Americans and other smaller groups honorary whites. And, as there are bound to be contested cases, we could also borrow from South African usage and establish a Race Court, a special tribunal chopped with keeping the categories straight. This body, for example, could dispose of characters like me of "Doubtful" race. However, until the law is passed and the court set up, I am going to maintain my doubts.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Be careful not to provoke others in business or social gatherings. You may detect flaws in the reasoning of some, but speak sparingly — and only where it will HELP.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Stand pat on decisions once carefully made. Resist temptations to "forget" promises, make spur-of-the-moment changes. Some good news in the offing.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Mercury, in fine position, now stimulates your talents. With the will, you can defeat big odds, create new devices, methods. USE your skills.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Do not make changes just for the sake of change. But do make them where they will bring improvement. You will have detours but, remember, your goals are still there.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

With fine planetary influences, you should feel ready for big doings. This must include a myriad of small details, handled capably. Don't forget, they ARE part of the picture.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A better day than you may realize. Go slowly if you must, but surely — in order to gain ground and overcome "usual" obstacles — with the purpose of eliminating them completely.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Common sense and a philosophical attitude will help you through this somewhat mixed day. Don't disrupt your schedule to indulge in frivolity. Modernize methods; think progressively.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

If you feel people or events have let you down somewhat, reflect on the benefits you HAVE received — especially the unexpected ones. This is a day in which to set things in perspective.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

There's no better time than the present to exercise your latent talents, as well as more obvious abilities, to increase chances of advancement. Be logical in all discussions.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Warm-hearted enthusiasm for your efforts may not be forthcoming, but they ARE being noticed in the right places. Emphasize your innate artistry, conscientiousness, serenity.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You have fine stellar influences to help you now, but it will be HOW you use your abilities and advantages that will determine the caliber of your gains. Only your best!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Experiences of the past may give you the clues as to proper handling of this day's action. With correct procedure, you should do well.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, a dynamic personality and limitless ambition for success. Once set upon a goal, you let nothing stand in your way — and often find an even better route to accomplishment. Getting along with coworkers is easy for you since you attract others without even trying. You are intellectually inclined but, with your delightful sense of humor, you are a lot of fun to be with. There's nothing aloof or snobbish about you. Fields in which you could excel: writing, painting, the stage, music, politics and statesmanship.

Auto sales plan pushed by solon

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A freshman member of the state Senate wants Ohio to jump into programs aimed at solving the economic crisis without waiting for the federal government.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, is pressing Senate leaders to begin hearings on his emergency bill to suspend state and local sales taxes on all motor vehicle sales until Jan. 1, 1976 — or until the national unemployment level falls below 4 per cent.

Freeman, 52, former Stark County commissioner, calls the auto industry "an extremely important part of Ohio's economy."

He claims the state can live with the projected revenue loss by spurring auto sales. In turn, he said, the sales would help spin-off industries such as big steel and rubber to create jobs.

Employed workers pay all the other taxes, unemployed workers do not, he said.

"The president doesn't seem to be doing much to get the auto industry going again, and I know Ohio can't turn the union around. But if this works, it could bump other states into doing something," Freeman said.

The Canton Democrat, who introduced his bill before the big auto makers announced rebates on purchases of 1975 model cars of up to about $500, said he was encouraged further by that development.

Under suspension of the 4 per cent sales tax, prospective purchasers could be getting reductions of $800 or $900 a car, he said.

"I know that a lot of times, a difference of about $200 can mean the difference between whether a person buys a car or whether he does not," he said.

Freeman obtained figures from the Legislative Budget Office which projected his bill would cost the state about $180 million in sales taxes during the remainder of the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

The estimate was made, the budget office said, on the premise that there will be no increase in the volume of auto sales during the coming year.

Freeman said he has support for the legislation from William Casstevens, regional director of the United Auto Workers Union.

Push measure for restrooms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. William Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati, introduced a measure Monday requiring free restroom facilities where there are pay toilets.

Spurred by a constituent who had an embarrassing moment because she didn't have a dime, Bowen reintroduced the bill, similar to one introduced two years ago, which would require free toilets in "hotels, motels, anywhere there is a pay toilet."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Get off the fence on the rich side

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old divorcee who is engaged to marry a 29-year-old man I'll call "Ira."

I have two children who are being raised by my mother because I work and can't keep them, but I intend to quit work and take the children after I'm married.

My problem is Ira's parents. We announced our engagement over the holidays and are planning a spring wedding.

Ira's parents are very wealthy. He is an only son and they are of another religion. When we announced our engagement, they tried to appear happy, but they couldn't hide their disappointment.

A few days ago I got a call (at work) from the attorney who represents Ira's father. He said he wanted to see me. We met and, to make a long story short, Ira's father has offered me a large sum of money if I will break the engagement. It's enough to take care of me for a long time, and surely until I find another man.

Ira is in his father's business and they are an affectionate and closely knit family, so if I married him I would never feel "accepted." I care for him a lot, but to be honest, the money is tempting. I'm attractive enough to get another man soon. In fact, I know two right now who would marry me tomorrow, but the security isn't quite as good with one, and the other is 52.

What should I do?

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Since you're on the fence, I think you should get off on the side with the money. If you really cared for Ira you'd have been insulted and outraged by such a proposition. But since you're considering it, and asking me what you should do, I say . . . .take it!

DEAR ABBY: Dad got Mom a portable TV for Christmas so she could watch it in the kitchen. Now it's always on the table when we have supper. We get the news mostly, but that's not the problem. The problem is that nobody can say a word at the table anymore because the TV is on, and Dad wants to hear it.

We used to talk about other things, and bring up family matters at the table because that's really the only time the whole family gets together. No more.

I am only 12 and I don't run this house, but I sure wish I could tell my folks to take the TV off the supper table without getting creamed.

NUMBER ONE SON

DEAR SON: You sound like a bright and reasonable young man. Why don't you just tell 'em like you told me? I think you have a good case.

DEAR ABBY: I can understand why you would advocate doing away with the sexist saluation "Dear Sir" in a business letter, but a reader's suggestion of "Dear Y'all" is not the answer.

It might be appropriate for the southland, but not for other sections of the country.

May I offer "Youse guys" of residents of New York and parts of New Jersey?

WESTERNER

DEAR WESTERNER: You may offer it, but only those who speak pure Brooklnese will buy it.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 29, the 29th day of 1975. There are 336 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1861, Kansas was admitted to the Union as the 34th state.

On this date—

In 1843, the 25th American president, William McKinley, was born in Niles, Ohio.

In 1850, Henry Clay introduced in the Senate a compromise bill on slavery which included the admission of California into the Union as a free state.

In 1900, the American League of Baseball Clubs was organized in Philadelphia.

In 1929, the first dog guide school to aid the blind, Seeing Eye, was founded in Nashville, Tenn.

In 1949, Britain granted de facto recognition to Israel.

In 1963, France vetoed Britain's application to join the European Common market.

Ten years ago: Kings, presidents and prime ministers from around the world converged on London for the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

Five years ago: Syrian jets roared over the Israeli port of Haifa, shattering windows with sonic booms, in the first such intrusion since the 1967 war.

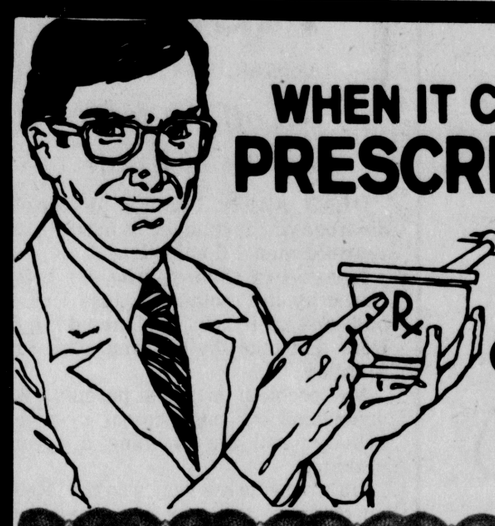

One year ago: King Baudouin dissolved Belgium's parliament after efforts to form a new coalition cabinet failed.

Today's birthdays: Actor John Forsythe is 57. Actor Victor Mature is 59.

Thought for today: Impatience is waiting in a hurry. — A child's definition.

Wedding in Circleville is announced here

Miss Betty Jean Brintlinger became the bride of Andrew J. Lucas in a candlelight ceremony in Community United Methodist Church. The Rev. David Frazier performed the double ring ceremony Dec. 21 for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brintlinger of Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lucas, 804 Leesburg Ave.

Miss Donna Berry, organist, provided a program of wedding music. A trio, composed of Mrs. Clyde Cook Jr., Mrs. Norman Wilson and Mrs. Dan Conkel, sang accompanied by Miss Cathy Wellman at the piano.

Pink and red poinsettias and arrangements of snowdrift mums, red carnations, holly and greenery, were placed around the altar flanked with candelabra decorated with red bows and greenery. Gerald Woodward and James Denman lighted the tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white velvet. Embroidered lace trimmed with seed pearls was on the bodice, and her chapel length train flowed from a belted bodice accented with scallops matching the cuffs on the long fitted sleeves. The silk illusion mantilla was held by a caplet of embroidered lace and pearls. Her only jewelry was a pair of opal earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a cascade of red and white sweetheart roses, snowdrift mums and holly, with a lace handkerchief, a gift of the little Misses Jennifer and Erika Hall.

Maid of honor Miss Diana Berry wore a long burgundy red velvet gown with full cap sleeves, with a white fur halo hat and carried red sweetheart roses and holly with red cording attached to a white fur muff. Bridesmaids Miss Cindy Cook, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jan Kelley, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor and carried matching bouquets with green cording. Little Miss Lisa George, another cousin, was the flower girl. She carried a basket of red carnations.. All of the attendants wore pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride. Master Scott Mickle, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Jay Joslyn served as best man and seating the wedding guests were Herman Fausnaugh Jr. and Rodger Mickle, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a silver formal length gown with empire waist and matching jacket with silver braided sequin trim for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore an aqua blue knit formal length gown with long sleeves and a corsage of white roses.

Bells and holly leaves decorated the four-tiered wedding cake topped with a wedding couple. Fresh holly encircled the cake and punch bowl. Candles, red carnations, mums and greenery completed the setting. Hostesses for the reception which followed in the social room at the church were Miss Stephanie Denman, Mrs. Charles P. Mowery III, aunt of the bride, and Miss Linda Redman, a cousin.

The new Mrs. Lucas, a graduate of Circleville High School, attended Ohio State University and is presently employed in the offices of Medick-Barrows Co., Columbus. Her husband, a graduate of Washington High School and Columbus Technical Institute, is employed by the Big Bear.

The couple is residing at Lincoln Park West, 4541 Longhurst Drive., Apt. 7, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lucas were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Wardell Party Home.

Youth Activities

YOUNG ATOMIC FARMERS 4-H

The organizational meeting of the Young Atomic Farmers 4-H Club was held in the White Oak Grove Methodist Church. Ted Waddle called the meeting to order and Sharon Smith led the pledges. Election of officers was held. They are: President, Michelle Cockerill; vice president, Sharon Smith; secretary, Tammy Payton; treasurer, Bob Haines; news reporter, Mark Newman; safety leader, Brenda Ryan; health leader, Don Eyre; recreational leaders, Bryan Cockerill and Mark Winters; advisers, Ted Waddle and Roger Smith.

The schedule for the following meetings was decided upon. Dues were set for $2.00. The meeting was adjourned and Ted Waddle and Roger Smith served refreshments.

Mark Newman, reporter

KONA DE WA KI KI

Our meeting of the Kona De Wa Ki Ki group was opened with Tina Bowers leading the Pledge of Allegiance. Tina Dearth led the Desire Pledge, and Robin Hicks made roll call and all answered with their Indian names. Denise Rodgers gave the hand sign.

The candlelight ceremonial was then conducted and Mrs. Philip Ford gave out beads and awards girls had earned during the year. We discussed how to decorate our Camp Fire vests with the awards and beads.

Mrs. Sue Cleary was a guest, and gave us some ideas on how our beads should be sewn on the vests.

Denise Rodgers and Terri Dallmayer served refreshments to the girls and mothers present. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

ROSEBUD BLUEBIRDS

Members of the Rosebud Bluebirds met in the home of their leader Mrs. Brenda Paul, in January. Holly Kimball was winner of the charm for selling the most candy in the group. Coat hanger clowns, embroidered plates and decorated cans were some of the craft items made and dues were collected.

The Rosebud Bluebirds will hold a bake sale at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at K-Mart. Those attending the meetings during the month were Holly Kimball, Pam Zimmerman, Pam Paul, Julie Lowe, Kim Null, Marilyn Streitenberger and Roxie Paul. Kim brought treats for everyone.

Mrs. Brenda Paul is the leader, Mrs. G. Lightle and Mrs. M. Streitenberger are co-leaders.

Mrs. Paul, leader

Mrs. Garringer guest speaker on 'Judaism'

Mrs. B.M. Slagle was hostess for the Martha Washington Committee on Indian Affairs of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Nineteen members and guests were present.

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, chairman, led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and conducted the business reports which followed. Mrs. Mildred Rogers, chairman of the June tour committee, asked for suggestions by members for this annual event.

Mrs. James O. Garringer, guest speaker, gave a most interesting and informative talk on 'Judaism', the religious ceremonies and beliefs of the Jews, the observance of national Jewish ceremonies and customs in their Temples and Synagogues and also services in their homes.

The hostesses, Mrs. Helen Van Zant, Mrs. Robert Haigler and Mrs. Zoe Garinger, served dainty refreshments from a candelabra centered table. Mrs. Cornwell presided at the punch bowl. Members present were Mrs. Mildred Rogers, Mrs. Helen Van Zant, Miss Helen Slavens, Mrs. Charles Wagner, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mrs. Cornwell, Mrs. Gilbert Crouse, Mrs. Fred Enslen, Mrs. Zoe Garinger, Mrs. Thomas Hancock, Mrs. Alice Hinton, Mrs. John Leland, Mrs. William Lovell, Mrs. Nellie McFadden, Mrs. Ervin Miller, Mrs. Howard Perrill, and guests Mrs. Irene Grim and Mrs. J.O. Garringer. Mrs. Slagle, regent of the Washington Court House Chapter, announced the next meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Sexton, 363 Carolyn Rd., Feb. 3 when the speakers will be Mrs. H.H. Haworth, State Historian, and Miss Elizabeth Trent, second vice regent of the Washington Court House Chapter. Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer will be hostess for the meeting and Mrs. Willard Bitzer will be guest speaker on "Old Homes of Ohio".

MR. AND MRS. JOHN T. CLARK

Marriage vows exchanged by Miss Lauderman, Mr. Clark

The Frankfort United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Judith Ann Lauderman and John T. Clark. Rev. David White officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 19 for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lauderman of Rt. 2, Frankfort, and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. James Seymour, Rt. 4, Chillicothe.

Arrangements of white carnations with accents of burgundy gladioli, palms and babies' breath, enhanced the altar. Marsha Purdum presented wedding selections at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory chiffon over satin with ivory lace and ribbon trim. The bridal illusion veil with seed pearl trim and ivory lace edging was shoulder-length. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with babies' breath, red roses and ribbon tied in love knots.

Mrs. David Carter, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a gown of burgundy, with burgunday floral skirt and empire styled bodice. The other attendants, Miss Jane Lauderman and Miss Kathy Lauderman, sisters of the bride, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. Each carried a single red rose with babies' breath and greenery with burgundy streamers.

Howard Yates served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Roger Lauderman, brother of the bride, and David Carter, borther-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a gown of coral double knit dress softly gathered at the yoke. She carried an arrangement of white feathered carnations centered with an orchid. The groom's aunt, Mrs. Seymour, wore a gold dress and jacket ensemble and carried the same type of flowers.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church social room were Mrs. Jerry Preston and Mrs. Randy Rodgers. Miss Melinda Carter, a niece of the bride, presided at the guest book. The Misses Jane Yates and Kathy Hawkins were in charge of the gift table.

The new Mrs. Clark, a graduate of Adena High School, is a nurse's aide at the new Ross County Medical Center. Her husband attended Southeastern High School and is presently employed at the U.S. Shoe Corporation in Chillicothe.

They are now residing in Hallsville.

Stir up extra flavor with juice

Florida oranges are in good supply this time of year and they're still one of the best food buys available at the supermarket. That's all the more reason to discover the many ways that fresh oranges can add sparkle to your meals — not only in desserts, but in soups or main dishes, as well.

There are many foods whose flavors are enhanced and complemented by the addition of orange juice. Tomatoes, for example, take on a whole new flavor dimension when combined with citrus. This combination is a favorite one for sauces served over meat, fish or poultry.

Orange Tomato Pork Chops is a succulent main dish which uses the tomato-orange flavor combination for the rich sauce in which the pork chops are simmered. Freshly sliced Florida oranges and avocado slices add the final touch to this exotic dish.

There's little work involved in this main dish, but you'll see how using oranges can help you turn simple pork chops into a sensational meal.

Soups, too, can be livened up with fresh orange juice. Florida Carrot Soup is a tasty example. Basically, it's a creamy carrot soup which is processed in a blender after cooking to give it a rich, smooth consistency. The mild carrot flavor blends well with the slightly sweet, slightly tart flavor of orange juice and the results are delicious.

These are just a few ideas on how Florida orange juice can improve the flavor of other foods. Why not try a few ideas of your own, too? You'll discover a whole new world of flavor and learn to turn simple dishes into spectacular ones.

ORANGE TOMATO PORK CHOPS

4 pork chops, ¾ inch thick
1 tablsespoon butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup chopped tomatoes
½ cup Florida orange juice
½ cup water
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
½ avocado, sliced
2 Florida oranges, peeled and sliced

Place large skillet over low heat. Stand pork chops on end and cook until enough fat to coat pan cooks out of chops. Place chops flat in skillet and brown on both sides over high heat. Remove, add butter if there is very little fat from chops, add onion and cook until tender. Sprinkle with flour; stir to mix well. Add tomatoes, orange juice, water, salt, and thyme. Add pork chops, cover and simmer 1 hour or until tender. Add sliced avocado and oranges; heat.

Makes: 4 servings.

Note: to prepare oranges, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Or cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again to remove any remaining white membrane. Slice horizontally.

B'day party given for nine year-old

Nine year-old Larry Alan Chrisman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Chrisman of 8 Homestead Court, was honored on his birthday at a party in his home, when colored balloons and matching streamers prevailed in the decorations.

Games were conducted and ice cream, cake, punch and popcorn balls were served to the little guests.

Mrs. Galloway DKG speaker

Mrs. Bruce Galloway was the guest speaker at the Alpha Delta chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma dinner-meeting in the Terrace Lounge Monday evening. Mrs. John Gall gave the invocation.

Mrs. Galloway spoke about the libraries in the Washington C.H., city elementary schools. She gave an illustrated history of the libraries, their uses and items available, as various types of books, film strips, projectors, tapes and recorders and records.

Mrs. Karl Harper, president, conducted the business meeting. The report of the Professional Affairs Committee was given by Mrs. Keith Rex, Mrs. Lee Mossbarger, Mrs. Harold Foster, Mrs. Edward Vollette and Mrs. James Shipley. The planning committee consisted of Miss Jane Durante, Mrs. Walter Seifried, Mrs. Harry Townsend and Miss Priscilla White.

Wayne PTO plans 'open house'

Wayne PTO will hold an "open house" and meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 3. The program will be presented by the kindergarten class.

It's so nice to come home to — a pot of bubbling soup. Prepare split pea soup from the canned variety; make it a main course dish by slicing in a package of skinless franks. Served with hard french rolls and a tossed salad; it's a complete meal.

Americans consume over eight billion pounds of chicken a year. Just 25 years ago, they ate less than eight pounds of chicken per capita annually. Today's consumption is almost five times that amount.

Cook a gourmet meal, leading off with appetizers of cheese and lunch meat wedgies. Using a 5-ounce jar of blue cheese spread and 5 slices of bologna or salami, top four of the slices with the spread and stack, finishing off with the unspread slice. Chill, and cut the stack into wedgies.

Cole slaw, a salad made princpally of shredded cabbage with a dressing, comes from the Dutch words Kool sla meaning cabbage salad.

Big American cars on verge of extinction

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The standard-size family car, the 18-foot, 2½-ton American species of automobile, is on the verge of extinction.

Detroit auto makers are now designing cars for the late 1970s which will be about two feet shorter, 500 to 1,000 pounds lighter and several inches taller than today's full-size car.

The new standards will be about the same size as standard cars of the 1950s. But they will still be big by European standards — a little longer than a Jaguar sedan and a few inches shorter than a Rolls Royce Silver Shadow.

The new generation of standards may be forced to debut in 1977 when stricter federal anti-emission requirements go into effect.

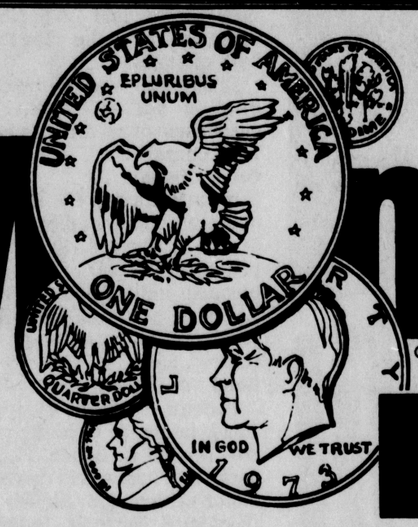

Ford says its luxury compact Granadas and Monarchs, introduced last fall, are the first of its new line of small family cars. General Motors will move in that direction this March, introducing a new small Cadillac, two feet shorter and a half ton lighter than current models.

"We're reducing the size of the cars externally, and perhaps we'll sacrifice luggage space, but we're trying to retain the room inside the cars," says GM Vice President Ernest S. Starkman.

Harold C. MacDonald, vice president of product development at Ford, said Ford's late 1970s cars will have the same interior length as current models, but "the interior width will be reduced from 63 to 64 inches to about 61 inches."

The car makers expect to meet that goal by building smaller, more efficient engines, designing aerodynamic cars and substituting lighter materials for conventional metals where possible. An industry yardstick says a 400-pound weight reduction adds one mile per gallon.

Wagner resigns post

New manager joins Producers

Michael L. Wagner, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., has announced his resignation as manager of the Producers Livestock Association, 812 Delaware St.

Wagner, who became manager of Producers Livestock Association in 1973, will be succeeded by James Barker, of Wilmington.

Barker joined the Producers Livestock Association in 1957 and has spent most of the past 17 years in hog sales at the Wilmington market. He will be spending a considerable amount of time in hog sales work with Woody Herron when he assumes management of the Washington C.H. market.

However, Barker's wide experience, gained in his 17-year tenure at the Wilmington stockyards, has enabled him to become knowledgeable in hog, cattle and sheep fields.

BARKER HAS announced that all personnel will remain in their present positions. David Luckhart will head the cattle department, Harold Westfall will continue to be in charge of the sheep department and Mary Eleanor Dodds is the office manager.

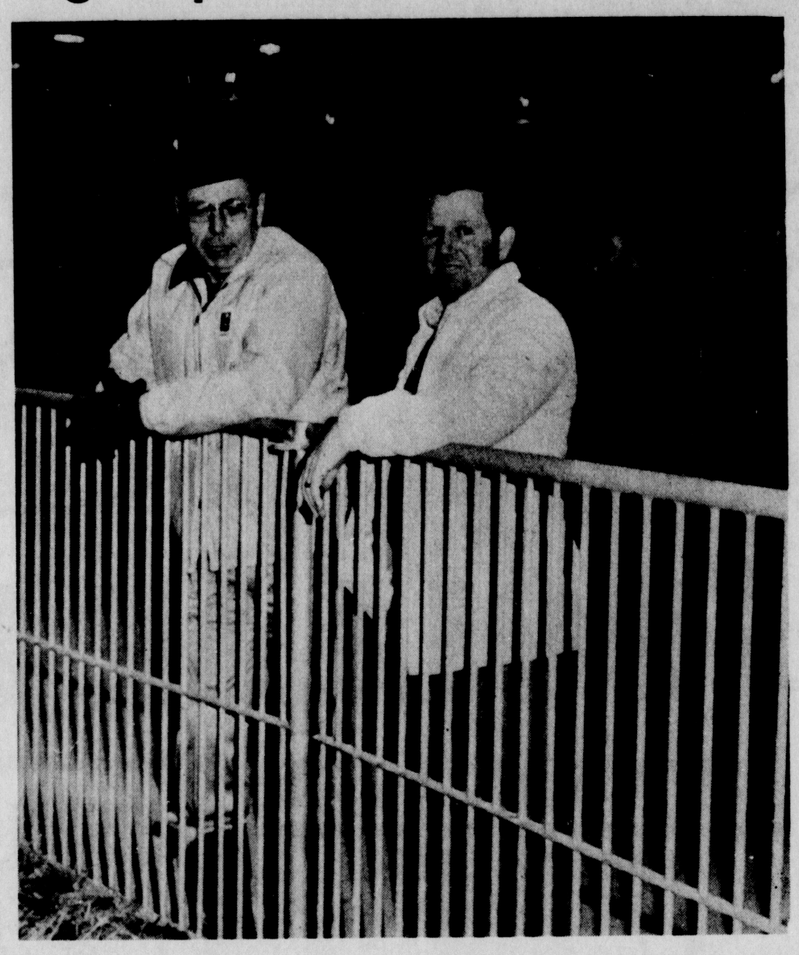

He will take over his newly-assigned duties in Washington C.H. as soon as a replacement can be arranged in Wilmington.

Barker and his wife, Joyce Ann, have two children, Karen and Keith.

Wagner assumed the position of manager at Producers Livestock Association in Washington C.H. in 1973 following 10 years with the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. During his tenure with the Ohio Farm Bureau Wagner served as a farm records specialist and as a marketing specialist, heading the grape, soybean, popcorn and poultry divisions of the Ohio Agricultural Marketing Association.

He is a graduate of Ohio State University, where he majored in animal science and agricultural economics and specialized in marketing.

Wagner was appointed to a three-year term on Ohio's Beef Marketing Committee in 1973 by Gene R. Abercrombie.

Stock market boom in offing?

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a great weight dropped onto a seesaw, the country's multibillion-dollar institutions leaped onto the stock market this week and bounced prices almost over the playground fence.

Amidst great cheering from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, records were set. The bulls were waltzing.

Once again the action also induced from the players and onlookers those ancient queries: Does what goes up necessarily have to come down? Will the public, which has been on the playground benches, join in the fun? The answers will be coming over these next few days when, in thousands of households more accustomed to huddling from financial adversity, the question will be asked: Should we get in on the action?

At the moment, there doesn't seem to be much chance that the public will do so. One survey after another shows families to be much more concerned with conserving than risking their assets.

The public had all but withdrawn from stock market activity over the past year, and there is no less an authority for this than James Needham, chairman of the Big Board.

Like the institutions, they were more concerned with those high interest rates, which offered in this time of financial and economic upheaval much more assurance of reward than could stocks.

Now that interest rates are falling — the prime rate is down to 9.5 per cent and yields on short-term government securities dropped Monday to the lowest in two years — the institutions are thinking stocks again.

Indicating their renewed interest was an increase Monday in trades of 10,000 shares or more to 209, compared with 186 last Friday. Only huge orders such as this can produce such excitement, such sharp rises.

In a time as confusing as this, the public is far less likely to come to the consensus of opinion that the institutions seem to have reached. No doubt the speculators will be attracted, but the conservative mood of most small investors suggests they'll wait and watch.

Individual investors do not have the same urgency to buy stocks as do the institutions, some of which have a steady flow of money coming in and so have little choice but to get it invested.

Traffic Court

A Washington C.H. man was fined $250 Tuesday on traffic charges in Municipal Court.

Acting Judge Omar A. Schwart fined Ralph W. Dixon, 57, of 1032 E. Market St., $200 on a charge of driving while intoxicated and $50 for reckless operation after he pleaded guilty to both charges.

Dixon was also sentenced to three days in jail and received a 30-day suspension of his driver's license on the DWI charge.

Others fined:

Irvin R. Layton III, 18, Big Plain, no operator's license, pleaded guilty, $50; Connie L. Russell, 18, of 713 John St., unassured clear distance ahead, pleaded guilty, $25; and Arnold R. Lewis, 26, of 1024 E. Paint St., failure to yield the right of way, pleaded no contest, $25.

Bond forfeitures:

Thelma J. Miller, 51, of 2336 Lewis Road, failure to yield the right of way, $50; Donald L. Bunch, 21, Springfield, permitted unlicensed driver to operate motor vehicle, $35; Steven E. Beverly, 19, of 510 S. North St., failure to display license plates, $35; James R. Larson, 39, Miami, Fla., speeding, $25; David J. Rittenhouse, 19, Rt. 4, speeding, $25; and Rickey Lowe, 20, of 509 Eastern Ave., failure to drive on right half of roadway, $25.

Rhodes starts appearances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, inconspicuous since he took his oath of office Jan. 13, emerged from his Statehouse office Tuesday for several public appearances.

Rhodes attended the funerals of three prominent Columbus businessmen who died Saturday in a plane crash in Washington, D.C.

Earlier in the day he met with Republican leaders of the Senate to suggest a plan for raises for public school teachers as an alternative to a Democratic plan now being heard in the General Assembly.

Rhodes then walked in on a meeting of the Ohio Energy Emergency Commission in his cabinet room to propose a revitalization of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, a regulatory body dealing with vital fuel sources.

Rhodes was home with the flu the first week he was in office.

Aronoff fights data

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-Cincinnati, plans to start anew on his embattled bill to regulate the use of computerized data on Ohio's private citizens, he said Tuesday.

He said his original bill, which now has been sent to a Senate subcommittee with the outlook somewhat discouraging, will be replaced by a proposal now being drafted.

The Cincinnati Republican said he removed from the proposal what obviously was the primary objection — one regulating the use of computer data by business firms. The new measure will limit control to government computer banks.

He said as now drafted, the bill has the endorsement of President Ford's Domestic Council on Privacy, the Council of State Governments, and will receive the blessing of Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration next week.

At 'rural-urban day' meet

World food situation reviewed for Rotary

An interesting presentation dealing with the world food situation was reviewed with members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at the annual "rural-urban day" luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

Approximately 40 Fayette County area farmers and agri-business persons attended the meeting as guests of Rotary Club members and heard David Boyne, of the department of agriculture economy at Ohio State University.

BOYNE, who illustrated his presentation with charts and statistics, had a positive approach and emphasized the production capacity of the American farmer.

"The present production capacity of the farmer here puts the United States in the world food spotlight," Boyne stressed.

He said the United States has the greatest potential for food production in the world because of the good climate found here, the large amount of land that can be farmed and the production here can provide substantially more food than the nation's people need.

In stressing that the United States' net export of food leads the rest of the world by a large margin, Boyne said "The U.S. is the most vital link in the food production chain, but we still cannot feed the world."

Boyne said, "Technical assistance is becoming an important export for the U.S. rather than food so that the underdeveloped countries can learn how to do more with what they have."

Speaking specifically of India, Boyne said there is little chance of its food production increasing.

The world food situation is based primarily around the problem of balance and distribution of food supply versus food demand, according to the agricultural economist.

Population and income are the basic factors for food demand while crop production, annual production and the fish and seafood harvest primarily represent the food supply.

While wheat and rice crops are the most important items under the crop production heading, he said that the fish and seafood harvest is also important although it represents only one per cent of the world's food production. It becomes so important since many countries rely on seafood as a source of protein.

Boyne said the supply of labor, capital, climate and technology all affect production and he termed technology as the "major engine that has fueled increased food production."

According to the Ohio State University economist, the most important item under the food demand heading is population pressure, basically in the Asian countries such as India, China, Indonesia and Japan.

Looking ahead 10 years to 1985 Boyne said statistics disclose that the world population will be five billion persons. There are presently four billion persons in the world and he said the one billion increase during the 10-year period represents 90 million more people every year. He said by the year 2,000, half of the world's population will be located in the Asian area.

BEFORE CLOSING, Boyne mentioned the possibility of stockpiling foodstuffs to provide famine relief for underdeveloped countries and also to offset the fluctuation of crops.

"Worldwide, the balance will be on a very reasonable basis over the next 10 years," Boyne said. There will be areas such as India where on a regional basis there will be serious problems."

The meeting was conducted by club president Paul Crosby and the program was arranged by John Gruber.

Student guests were Ike Hixon, of MTHS, and Tim Ogan, of WSHS. Visiting Rotarians were Darrell French, of Wilmington, Larry Fargel and Bill Stout, both of Circleville, and Art Dick, Robert McNeely and Robert Montenare, all of Mount Sterling.

Edson Pitwak, the Washington C.H. Rotary Club's first foreign exchange student, was a guest with William Pool.

Washington C.H. man to open jewelry repair service here

A Washington C.H. man will begin a new jewelry repair service in the downtown business district Monday.

Donald Fox, 910 Briar Ave., who has a total of six years in the jewelry business, will open D&B Jewelry Repair Service at 119 N. Fayette Street in the location formerly occupied by Harkins and Reckless attorneys.

Fox said no retail sales of jewelry will be involved in the business. He will specialize in diamond settings, ring sizing, replacing worn prongs and all types of general repair services including watch and clock repair.

Fox, who attended a jewelry repair school in Cincinnati last February, has maintained a jewelry repair shop at his Briar Avenue residence for the past year. He has been involved in jewelry repair here on a full-time basis since early August, handling wholesale repairs for a number of area jewelry stores.

Before opening the repair shop in his home, Fox served for three years as manager of the Ross Jewelers store in Chillicothe. Prior to managing the Chillicothe store, he was an assistant manager under Jerry Johnson at Ross Jewelers in downtown Washington C.H.

A lifelong resident of Washington C.H., Fox attended Washington High School and spent four years with the U.S. Navy. His wife, the former Brenda Moore, is a registered nurse at the Quiet Acres Nursing Home, Palmer Road. They have two sons, Jason and Sean, and two other children, Babs Ann and Brent Moore, whom they have raised in their home.

Columbus man appointed deputy highway director

DELAWARE — Ohio Department of Transportation director Richard D. Jackson has announced that John W. Clark, of Columbus, has been appointed as District 6 Deputy Director.

The 42-year-old Clark is a career employee of the department having served on the central office traffic staff since 1964. In his new position, Clark will oversee the entire operation of the department in the eight-county area that includes Fayette County.

A licensed professional engineer, Clark holds the grade of fellow in the Institute of Traffic Engineers and is serving as treasurer of the Ohio section. He has attended several traffic engineering seminars at Northwestern University, and is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers. Clark is the past president of the Columbus Armed Forces Community Relations Council. A member of various Masonic Bodies, Clark is the president of the Downtown Columbus Hi-Twelve Club. He enjoys flying and is a licensed private pilot, sharing an airplaine with two friends. An avid tennis player, he also enjoys fishing and golf in his spare time. Clark is a member of the First Community Church and has been active in the choir for over 20-years.

Clark and his wife, Elaine, have two daughters.

Clermont County asks transit cash

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Clermont County has applied for federal funds to set up a pilot rural transit system it hopes can be in partial operation this year.

Clermont County commissioners signed an application Tuesday for a federal grant of $218,350 toward the estimated $442,175 one-year cost of running the system. The remaining funds would be sought locally.

Commissioners said the service would first serve the elderly, indigent and others on aid programs. Eventually, they hope the system will benefit the general public and tie into transit systems in neighboring Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati.

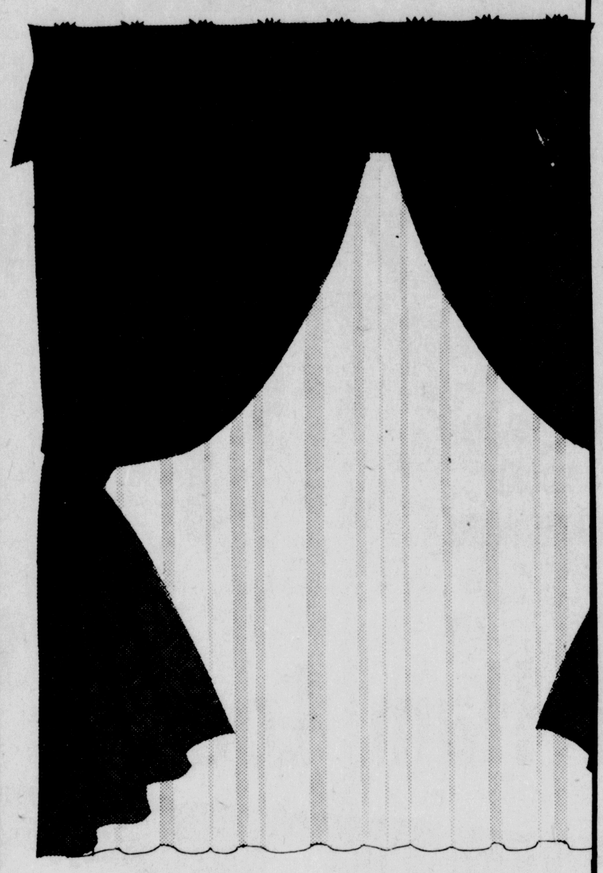

Mine standards hearings slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing on proposed performance standards for the Ohio Surface Mine Law will be held on Feb. 18, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources has announced.

Savings Bank clock presented to county historical society

The Washington Savings Bank clock, a landmark to Fayette County residents for over 50 years, was presented to the Fayette County Historical Society Wednesday at the Fayette County Museum.

The clock, which hung from the corner of Court and Fayette Streets at the present Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. from 1923 until 1974, was relocated to the front lawn of the museum to preserve a part of the history of the Washington C.H. area.

MODIFICATIONS have been made to the four-sided clock to the extent that the sides facing Court Street traffic will continue to carry the lead stained glass panels with the Washington Savings Bank name. The faces as seen from Columbus Avenue and Washington Avenue have been changed to read "Fayette County Historical Museum."

The original works of the bank clock included the Westminster chimes which rang each quarter hour on the hour. The working mechanisms were replaced in 1969, along with a new control panel, located in the museum, to insure continued operations of the clock.

For many years, the Washington Savings Bank carried advertising with the slogan, "The Bank with the Chime Clock."

Richard Whiteside, president of the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H., presented the clock to Kenneth Craig, president of the Fayette County Historical Society, during the small ceremony Wednesday.

Whiteside donated the gift in the names of the late Arch O. Riber, dean of Ohio bankers at the time of his retirement in 1964 and chief executive of the bank for over 30 years, and Arthur H. Finley, a director of the bank for over 40 years, a former bank president and presently chairman of the bank's board of directors.

Whiteside read the inscription of a plaque to be given to the historical society in honor of the event:

"The Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. presented this landmark symbol of Washington C.H. and Fayette County to the Fayette County Historical Society in October, 1974. The presentation was made to commemorate the change in name from The Washington Savings Bank to The Huntington Bank of Washington C.H."

In accepting the clock, Craig related several historical moments "observed" by the clock during its period of stay at the downtown business intersection.

"This clock saw pass veterans of three wars, the Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War I, and saw the joy on the faces of people in Washington C.H. in August of 1945 when World War II ended," he said.

He also noted the clock would recall Banker's Row, the downtown section of Washington C.H. which included five banks on the north side of Court Street between Main and Fayette Streets, and changes undergone in the town through the years.

CRAIG SAID the clock witnessed the last fire equipment drawn by horse pass by the bank soon after it was installed at the intersection. The clock was often observed by theatre goers checking the time before entering the three silent theatres in the town, he added.

In accepting the bank clock for the historical society, Craig said, "The Fayette County Museum will give the clock a place where it can remain a part of our community."

With the clock situated at the intersection of Court Street, Washington Avenue and Columbus Avenue, Craig said the clock will be able to continue to look down Court Street and "keep an eye on all the changes in the future."

BANK CLOCK PRESENTATION — The Huntington Bank of Washington C. H. presented the old Washington Savings Bank clock to the Fayette County Historical Society in a ceremony Wednesday. Posing under the clock at its new location on the Fayette County Museum lawn, showing the modified faces, are (left to right) Richard Whiteside, president of the Huntington Bank, Kenneth Craig, president of the Fayette County Historical Society, B. E. Kelley, curator of the museum, and Mrs. Craig. In the foreground is Mrs. Arch O. Riber, widow of the late dean of Ohio bankers, who was one of two men recognized during the presentation.

Vision, perception problems reviewed

Problems of vision and perception, how they affect the student and how they can be discovered for treatment were discussed Tuesday by Dr. Douglas Levy, a Centerville optometrist.

Dr. Levy, the featured speaker at a special public meeting at Belle-Aire Elementary School stressed the importance of discovering vision difficulties, especially in children in the four to eight year age bracket.

He said it is imperative that young children be treated early because although their vision problems may be cured very quickly, the frustration encountered attempting to compete with healthy children may linger for years.

"Detection is difficult because the child is usually unaware that he has any problem," the optometrist said. "It is the responsibility of those around him to recognize the symptoms of abnormal vision."

In light of this responsibility, Dr. Levy was pleased with the response of Fayette County residents and the initiative shown by local school personnel. The Title I program's major thrust is in the area of vision and hearing impediments.

Teachers are becoming more aware of the symptoms of these problems, and the schools are doing more to assist the child with difficulties. The primary responsibility must rest with the parents, however.

Dr. Levy explained that although they are not conclusive, many actions of the child indicate the possibility of a problem. Rubbing of the eyes, constant headaches, habitual tilting of the head or the child sitting very close to a television set are cause for concern. A child who has one or more of these situations recurring frequently should be examined by his physician and optometrist, Dr. Levy said.

Reversal is one of the most common difficulties for children. They can see "b" as "d," "on" as "no," or "was" as "saw," and the experience is very frustrating. To demonstrate some of the problems, the doctor showed slides which offered the audience a view through the eyes of a child with vision difficulties, which was very effective.

After the program, the Parent Advisory Council to Title I, which attended the meeting, discussed some of the points brought out by Dr. Levy.

Theft charge filed on man

A 27-year-old Jamestown man had been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with petty theft by deception.

Bethel R. Frisbie allegedly told an employe of Allen Grocery, 1537 N. North St., at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday that the owner requested the employe give Frisbie $4 for gas and food. The employe did so and Frisbie left. It was later found to be a lie, according to deputies.

Frisbie is presently incarcerated in the county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Police check two accidents

A hit-skip mishap and a two-car collision were investigated by Washington C.H. police officers Tuesday.

Police are searching for an older model green Dodge with no license plates, which struck a car driven by Cleva A. Echord, 24, of 1003 S. Main St., at the intersection of Earl and Gibbs avenues at 5:05 p.m. Tuesday and then drove off.

The Echord auto incurred moderate damage to the right front end and a flat tire, but the driver was not injured.

An accident involving cars driven by Eddie J. Wynne, 26, of 1025 Bogus Rd., and Esther L. Frederick, 31, of 715 Eastern Ave., occurred on East Street, near the Main Street intersection, at 12:54 p.m. Tuesday.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers turned off by program-preempting politicking may groan, but the Republican National Committee is planning three half-hour TV shows to polish up the GOP's public image.

The programs, emphasizing positive aspects of GOP work, will appear this spring in prime evening time on a one-show-per-network basis if no snags develop, says Mary Louise Smith, GOP national chairman.

She made the plans public last weekend at a meeting of GOP state chairmen in Chicago, where she said the TV campaign's aim was "to rebuild the shattered perception the public has of the Republican party."

In a telephone interview from Washington, D.C., she said the shattered perception was partly "a fallout from the whole Watergate era" and partly because "we got tagged for some of the responsibility for the faltering economy."

She said the GOP's planned TV shows will be sort of a "magazine of the air," similar in format to CBS' "60 Minutes."

It'll feature what she called "news segments" on GOP activities, ranging from excerpts of presidential news conferences to "things that Republicans are doing in a significant kind of way, such as how Republic governors are addressing themselves to problems in their own states."

It also will feature prominent Republicans as guests, explain what programs the GOP national committee has afoot, seek financial support from viewers and contain a five-minute segment state GOP officials can replace with a mini-show of their own, she said.

The cost of the TV effort could run as high as $345,000. A GOP spokesman says the total cost of the shows is estimated at between $110,000 and $115,000.

And network sources say the price of a half-hour's prime evening time in May — when the shows would appear — averages between $90,000 and $100,000.

Mrs. Smith said the committee's representatives are discussing the purchase of time from the CBS, NBC and ABC television networks.

Swank elected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Executive Vice President C. William Swank of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has been elected president of the National Committee of Cooperative Agricultural Bargaining and Marketing Associations.

General Telephone to expand

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today plans to spend $50 million statewide in 1975 to expand facilities.

President Robert M. Wopat said the $50 million budget is subject to "cautious review."

It is the company's lowest budget for capital additions since 1970, down from $54 million last year, he said.

"Nevertheless, we will continue a comprehensive construction program throughout the state. But it must be subject to constant review to coincide with economic conditions," Wopat said.

General Telephone has more than 745,000 phones in 79 Ohio counties.

The phone company also announced that three large electronic exchange installations— at Trotwood, Marion and New Philadelphia—will be completed during the coming year.

Plans also call for complete change-out of local exchange systems in Bergholz, Dellroy, East Rochester, Mechanicsburg, Racine, Rutland, Sharon Center, Wake and Waldo.

Catalysts said danger to health

WASHINGTON (AP) — The auto industry's favorite antipollution device may cause worse public health problems than it cures, the Environmental Protection Agency has warned.

In a preliminary report, the EPA said continued use of "oxidizing catalyst" devices to cut emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons in auto exhaust would increase the output of another class of chemicals called sulfates.

If the catalysts, introduced in the 1975 model year, are installed on new cars for three more years, the resulting buildup of sulfates may cause an increase in heart and lung diseases and deaths outweighing the benefits from reducing the other pollutants, the report said.

The report said that Western states, especially California, would reap most of the benefits, while Eastern states would face most of the increased risk.

Education in Israel under fire

JERUSALEM (AP) — A dinosaur was president of the United States, wrote a prospective Israeli civil servant.

Another thought that Amedeo Modigliani, a modern Italian painter, was a fashion model.

The English dramatist and poet William Shakespeare was a musician, said a third.

These and other answers to a quiz for candidates applying to join the Israeli civil service have whipped up a controversy that has become known as "the dinosaur scandal."

The quiz was given to 100 Israeli high school graduates, all over 20 years old and some of them army veterans.

Since the results were published about 10 days ago letters have been pouring into newspapers complaining about the level of ignorance displayed by the answers.

The Education Ministry has been singled out for criticism, but one senior education official said lack of general knowledge was common all over the world and the results did not surprise him.

Assembly faces new effort at gun control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state legislature is ready for another controversial go around on gun control, same as last session when the proposal stirred up a storm, then died without fanfare.

The sponsor again is Rep. Harry Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, who since has become chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. He has scaled his proposal down a bit.

Lehman, author of an illfated 1974 constitutional amendment that would have banned manufacture, sale, possession, or use of handguns in Ohio, offered a new ballot proposal Tuesday that would outlaw handguns with barrels six inches or less.

The new constitutional proposal was accompanied by two bills that would do the same in state law, rather than by voter approval. The latter bills include language, however, that adds handguns of .32-caliber or less to those with short barrels.

One of Lehman's bills would include those types of handguns under the state's dangerous weapons statute, while the other imposes a separate ban and clarifies that it does not apply to peace officers.

Lehman's packet of proposals generally is aimed at the so-called "Saturday night special"—cheap handguns that can be obtained for about $25.

A "Saturday night special" bill was killed 45-51 last year in the House, partly as a result of a section that classified them as weapons made of metal that would melt or warp at 800 degrees Fahrenheit or less.

Lehman omitted that language this time to overcome objections that it would be impossible to include it in a state law with any real hope of making the cheap weapons detectable by police.

The judiciary chairman's bills and amendment were among more than two dozen offered Tuesday as the House returned from weekend recess. The Senate received four new proposals, including the $11.5 billion budget proposal left behind by former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

It was introduced earlier in the House to help start groundwork for Gov. James A. Rhodes' two-year budget, expected by mid-March.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, introduced a bill to pay $881,029 in sundry claims against the state. They were pending when the new state Court of Claims was created Jan. 1 to hear future suits against the state.

As the Senate had the day before, the House received a proposal to change a law that now requires employers of casual household help, who pay as much as $50 in wages in each calendar quarter, to cover their workers with workmen's compensation insurance.

The House proposal would hike the ceiling to $400 in wages during any three-month period. The Senate bill proposes requiring insurance after an employer pays out $250 during a calendar quarter.

Other new House bills would:

—Require issuance of drivers licenses to non-drivers for identification purposes.

—Eliminate red tape and double bonding strip mine requirements.

—Permit school boards to lease buses for transporting senior citizens.

—Require use of "humane" devices for trapping.

—Establish a legislator-citizen committee to study operations of the Public Utilities Commission and make a report.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, introduced in the upper chamber a bill to outlaw closed executive sessions by government agencies.

The bill would tighten state law which currently makes it possible for officials to go into executive session for debate and decision, then reconvene in public to take a formal vote.

Strip mine red tape may be cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two state legislators from Ohio's strip mine territory introduced a bill Tuesday they said would streamline bookeeping and cut red tape under the state's strip mine law.

Reps. Arthur R. Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, and Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, said the bill is designed to prevent mine operators from having to submit duplicate information from year to year.

At the same time, Bowers said it "will enable the chief of the Division of Reclamation to have a better overall picture of mining plans in determining whether or not to issue a strip mine license."

Under the proposal, the life of newly-authorized permits would be for a period of three years, but licenses would have to be obtained annually for individual mine sites. Present law does not provide for permits for overall mining operations, Bowers said.

He said the bill would not change requirements for the operator to file a plan for mining and restoration of lands.

Speck said the bill makes one minor change, eliminating a requirement that two pieces of mine property on different sides of a road must have separate licenses.

The two lawmakers said the legislation conforms to guidelines established this year in a bill scheduled for introduction in Congress, and follows a Pennsylvania law that allows licenses and permits to be handled separately.

Bowen threatens to veto measure

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Otis Bowen has issued his first threat to veto a bill now being considered by the legislature.

The measure, which has passed the House, gives collective bargaining rights to most Indiana public employes and does not contain a no strike clause.

The measure covers all public employes except teachers, professional engineers, firemen and policemen. They won bargaining rights two years ago.

The governor told the House Republican leader he would veto the legislation if as passed Tuesday it fails to include a clause prohibiting strikes.

Three OSU seniors picked in pro draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I cried," said Neal Colzie.

"It was the slowest 1½ hours I ever went through," said Kurt Schumacher.

"I'm going from one winning team to another. I know how to win," said Doug "Bubba" France.

Those were the varying reactions of the three Ohio State seniors after their opening round selections Tuesday in the National Football League draft.

Their selections marked the second straight season the NFL has dipped into the Big Ten school's talent for three opening round picks.

Ohio State was the lone college with three first round draftees this year. Last year, Buckeyes John Hicks, Randy Gradishar and Rick Middleton went in the opening round.

The Ohio State record, however, is four first-round players — Jack Tatum, John Brockington, Tim Anderson and Leo Hayden in 1971.

Schumacher, a 6-foot-4, 252-pound blocker delux from Lorain, Ohio, was the 12th player taken. He was selected after the Saints dealt defensive end Billy Newsome to the New York Jets for their first selection.

"The Saints told me if I can handle the left tackle job, it's mine. I can't ask for much more," said Schumacher, an offensive line pillar for the Big Ten cochampions.

"I got up at 8 o'clock this morning. New Orleans didn't call until 9:30. It was the slowest 1½ hours I ever went through. All you do is sit and wait for the telephone to ring," he said.

The Saints made Middleton, a linebacker, their No. 1 pick and Schumacher said, "I talked to Rick a couple of weeks ago. He's really happy down there."

The 6-6, 260-pound France was the Buckeyes' regular tight end, but Rams' officials say he will be switched to offensive tackle.

100 women participate in tourney

The WCHO women's bowling tournament at Bowland Lanes drew more than 100 entries in the four divisions, singles, doubles, all-events handicap and all-events scratch.

Topping the doubles event were A. Ackley and J. Hanners, who edged out N. Cash and C. Scheirer with a 1227 score. The second place pair had 1224.

First place in the singles were taken by R. Stanforth with a 691, far ahead of P. Reese's second place 664. Reese did have the high actual game, however, with a 256.

P. Richards took the all-events handicap with a 1,860 score, 19 pins higher than W. Harlan, who was second.

Leader of the all-events actual was C. Scheirer, who turned in a 1,642. She topped second place P. Shepard by nearly 50 pins.

Industrial League

Pennington Bread won the battle of the losers Monday night in Industrial League play.

Pennington, now 1-6, beat Avoset, which remains as the league's only winless quintet. Tied at the end of one quarter and ahead by only two points at the half, Pennington jumped to a six point bulge at the end of the third stanza and won 65-56.

At the other end of the ladder, Armco remained unbeaten in seven games, downing Mead 98-74. The victory lifted Armco a game and a half ahead of Hobart, who meets Redman tonight.

Panthers meet Indians Friday night

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

"Our attitudes are still good and even though we've lost two in a row, we still have a tremendous amount of pride and want to be a winner." Those thoughts were given by Miami Trace head basketball coach Dale Creamer about the past few weeks and the upcoming game with Hillsboro.

Friday night, the Panthers entertain the Indians, who are tied with Greenfield for second place in the South Central Ohio League. Second place, however, doesn't mean much this year as Circleville has run away with the crown. Trace presently shares fifth spot with Washington C.H.

The Panther mentor pointed out that Hillsboro looms as a tough opponent. He said, "Hillsboro plays a good game on the boards and if we expect to win we must contain their rebounding. We also must shut off some of their outside shooting."

The Indian lineup is expected to consist of Kevin Bailey and Barry Zink at guard, Tim Fuller and Mike Sharkey at the forwards, and Al McKenzie in the pivot position. Hillsboro's sixth man is powerful 6-foot-5 Mike Fuller.

Creamer said, "Bailey and Zink are the running outside shooters, with Bailey taking the most shots. He appears to have fully recovered from his injury earlier this season."

Creamer said that McKenzie and the Fullers would dominate the boards while the 6-foot-2 Sharkey could also shoot from outside. He lauded Sharkey on a tremendous outside shooting job this season.

Miami Trace will be lacking rebound strength in the game. Giant 6-foot-6 Randy Rhonemus has been sick the entire week and has been ruled out for a starting role even though Creamer stated that he might see some action depending on his health.

As of this time, the starting lineup is wide open on the squad for two positions: center and guard. The other starters will be Phil Skinner in the backcourt, Dan Gifford on the wing, and Allan Conner at forward.

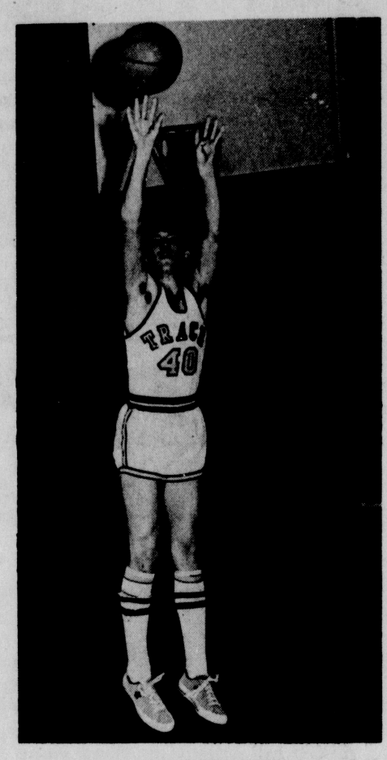

Relating back to the loss against Columbus Bexley last Friday night, Creamer stated, "The second quarter killed us. However, at one point in the game we were completely out of it and still came back to make it a good ballgame." He also stated that the players that came from the bench were a big factor in keeping them close in the game.

Trace's head coach also stated that Bexley possibly had the best outside shooter that he had seen this season in the person of Todd Millard, a sophomore.

Creamer had nothing but praise for Conner, proclaiming him the defensive player of the week for the second straight week. Creamer noted, "Allan played a real good game for us and is playing full tilt again after his ankle injury." He had been forced to miss two games with the injury.

In the game versus Bexley, Conner tossed in 17 points, pulled down 16 rebounds, took one charging foul, and chalked up two held balls and two assists.

In addition to the game Friday night, the Panthers also play Saturday evening. They host the Hawks from Bishop Hartley in a non-league encounter.

ALLAN CONNER

First session of draft concluded

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — By the time Tuesday's session of the National Football League draft was half over, the thing had once again degenerated from a thoroughbred auction to the usual body count, wherein the announcement of a player selection was greeted by "Who's he?"

The Steve Bartkowskis, the Randy Whites, the Ken Huffs, the Walter Paytons ... all were long gone, gobbled up by the talent-hungry and talent-rich teams in the opening round.

Only occasionally did a name strike a familiar chord. Placekicker Steve Mike-Mayer of Maryland, kid brother of Atlanta Falcons' kicker Nick Mike-Mayer, was 72nd to go, chosen 20th in the third round by San Francisco. Roosevelt Leaks, Texas' star running back, had to wait to become No. 105, Baltimore's pick leading off the fifth round.

Quarterback David Humm of Nebraska didn't go until 23 picks later, when Oakland claimed him, another left-hander to go with Ken Stabler. And quarterback Pat Haden of Southern California was picked No. 176 (20th in the seventh and last round Tuesday) by Los Angeles, even though he'll spend the next two years studying in England as a Rhodes scholar.

For the most part, though, the droning on of teams, names, positions and colleges was greeted by no more enthusiasm than the scratching of pens and dialing of telephones, as representatives of the league's 26 teams crossed one more body off the scouting lists.

There was to be more of the same today as the remaining 10 of the 17 rounds were ticked off, 260 more collegians to complete this annual 442-player avalanche which amounts to roughly 48 tons of flesh and untold millions of dollars in salaries and dreams.

There were few surprises, if any, in Tuesday's pickings. The Falcons started it off by naming Steve Bartkowski, the All-American quarterback from California whom they wanted so badly that they had to swap first-round picks with Baltimore and give up a highly regarded offensive tackle to the Colts in order to get him.

The 6-foot-4 Bartkowski has been compared by many to Roman Gabriel and called the strongest passer to come out of the college ranks since Jim Plunkett — the last quarterback picked No. 1, in 1971.

Dallas, which picked No. 1 a year ago and got defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones, went No. 2 this year, having acquired this choice spot by sending quarterback Craig Morton to the New York Giants.

This time the Cowboys took defensive end Randy White of Maryland, the Outland Trophy winner as the nation's top college lineman in 1974. They said White would be tried at linebacker, perhaps to eventually succeed veteran Lee Roy Jordan.

Baltimore, No. 3 as a result of the Atlanta's deal, picked guard Ken Huff of North Carolina. The Chicago Bears followed by naming running back Walter Payton from Jackson State, then Cleveland took defensive end Mack Mitchell of Houston.

Los Angeles, which had three first-round picks by virtue of past trades, took tackle Dennis Harra of Miami, the Jets dealt away their No. 1 to New Orleans for defensive end Billy Newsome and the Saints picked Ohio State tackle Kurt Schumacher.

Completing the first round, Detroit took guard Lynn Boden of South Dakota State; Cincinnati got linebacker Glen Cameron of Florida, Houston picked Texas A&I running back Don Hardeman; New England went for tight end Russ Francis of Oregon; Denver took defensive back Louie Wright of San Jose State; Dallas picked linebacker Tom Henderson of Langston; Buffalo grabbed linebacker Tom Ruud of Nebraska; Los Angeles used its third choice to take tackle Doug France of Ohio State; St. Louis picked defensive back Tim Gray from Texas A&M; San Diego chose defensive back Mike Williams from Louisiana State; Miami got Tampa tackle Darryl Carlton; Oakland selected defensive back Neal Colzie of Ohio State; Minnesota picked Colorado State defensive end Mark Mullaney, and the Pittsburgh Steelers, 1-13 just five years ago but now Super Bowl champions, completed the opening round by choosing Michigan defensive back Dave Brown.

Cincinnati Bengals choose linebacker in first round

CINCINNATI (AP)—Honeymooning Glenn Cameron had a game of golf interrupted Tuesday by his wife.

"I was running up the fairway whispering 'Glenn,'" laughed his bride, "because people were teeing off all around me.

"When I told him he was drafted by Cincinnati in the first round he gave me a bearhug and nearly hit me in the head with his club," said Elizabeth Cameron from the family home in Coral Gables, Fla.

The Bengals hope Cameron can squeeze off the traffic that riddled the middle of their defense last year.

The 6-foot-2, 230-pound linebacker from Florida, who married shortly after the Gators' Dec. 31 date with Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl, was the second linebacker taken in what was considered a bumper crop.

The Bengals' No. 1 choice in the National Football League draft was projected as a possible rookie starter.

That doesn't necessarily mean Cameron will automatically leapfrog Jim LeClair into the middle linebacking spot.

"He has a definite chance to start, but that question won't be resolved until one proves he's the best man," said Pete Brown, director of Bengals' scouting.

Brown is so high on both that he hasn't ruled out Cameron or LeClair beating out an outside linebacker. "Cameron can play anywhere," said Paul Brown, head coach.

Cincinnati turned to an offensive guard in the second round, taking Boston College's Al Krevis on the basis of his being the best athlete available.

Krevis' power will provide "a little more blast and oomph up front," said Brown.

A Bengals aide who scouted Krevis called him "the bestlooking pass blocker I've seen in six years. He's better than Vern Holland was when he came here."

Cincinnati also shopped for a reserve quarterback and came up with record-setting passer Gary Scheide of Brigham Young University and Tom Shuman of Penn State.

Scheide was one of three, third-round selections. The first was defensive end Gary Burley, a defensive end from Grove City, Ohio, who Pittsburgh Coach Johnny Majors called "the best big man I've ever coached."

The other third-round pick was linebacker Bo Harris from Louisiana State.

A mild surprise was the availability in the fifth round of Jeff West, the University of Cincinnati punter rated tops in the country.

The fourth round produced running back Stan Fritts of North Carolina State and Harvard All-American Pat McInally, a 6-foot-7 tight end.

Browns happy with choices

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns front office enters the second day of the National Football League draft today a very contented group of people after looking over their first-day activity.

"I am very, very pleased with our selections," said Browns owner Art Modell. "We got some fine players and the trade we made was a great one. There isn't a wide receiver on the draft list that can compare with him."

Modell referred to the Browns trading one of their two fourth-round selections for New England Patriots veteran wide receiver Reggie Rocker.

"He didn't get much action last year because of an injured wrist, but we're confident that he's over that already," Modell said.

The Browns were looking for defensive ends and wide receivers and that's where most of their first attention was focused.

Their first-round choice was 6-foot-7, 240-pound defensive end Mack Mitchell from the University of Houston.

"I'd heard rumors I'd be going other places, but this is fine," said Mitchell after hearing of his selection. "I hope I can be a starter, but if not, I just hope I can help the team."

The Browns didn't have a second-round choice, but in the third round, Oscar Roan, a 6-foot-5, 208-pound tight end from Southern Methodist was picked.

Kentucky State continues to dominate small colleges

By The Associated Press

The dream is over, but the domination by Kentucky State of small college basketball continues despite a loss which Coach Lucius Mitchell blames on officiating.

The Kentucky State Thorobreds' hopes for an unbeaten season were crushed last weekend when they fell to arch-rival Lincoln University, Mo., 85-83 in overtime, but they remained the No. 1 team in The Associated Press college division basketball poll, released Wednesday.

The Thorobreds, 12-1, previously unbeaten in 31 straight regular season games, began the week with a 90-68 triumph over Union College, Ky., before losing to Lincoln, whom they had earlier defeated 91-68. Kentucky State tallied 13 first-place votes and 291 points.

The game with Lincoln was followed by an exchange of criticisms which resulted in the two schools severing athletic relations.

Coach Mitchell said the officials "weren't sanctioned in our conference and as far as I could tell he (Lincoln Coach Don Corbett) just got two dudes to come in there."

Officials at Lincoln, upon hearing the charges, severed athletic ties with Kentucky State.

"Most coaches accept defeat graciously," said Lincoln Athletic Director Dwight Reed. "However, Lucius Mitchell always has an alibi. His losses have been the result of 'poor officiating' which, in essence, means cheating. Lincoln can not compete with institutions whose coaches are rabble rousers and immature in defeat."

Jackson State replaced Gardner-Webb as the new second-place team in the rankings, moving up from third after collecting five first-place votes and 196 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Tigers trimmed Southern University at Baton Rouge 98-94 and nipped Xavier-New Orleans 69-64.

ABA East stomps West; wins 151-124

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Freddie Lewis of the St. Louis Spirits told a team official before Tuesday night's American Basketball Association All-Star Game that he thought he might win the most valuable player award.

And he was right.

Lewis connected for 26 points and collected 10 assists in leading the Eastern Division All-Stars to a 151-124 victory over the ABA's top talent in the West.

"I was pretty confident the way I've been playing in St. Louis and I wanted to prove to myself that I'm not too old to play basketball," Lewis, 31, said in the locker room after the game.

His marksmanship outshone fine performances by George Gervin and James Silas of the San Antonio Spurs, who scored 23 and 21 points, respectively, in the West's losing effort.

Julius Erving and Brian Taylor, both of the New York Nets, added 21 points each to the East total, and Artis Gilmore of Kentucky contributed 13 rebounds for the East.

George McGinnis of Indiana topped the West's rebounding efforts with 12.

The East shot nearly 56 per cent from the field and scored more than 73 per cent of the time from the foul line. At the same time the West shot only 44 per cent from the floor, but connected 80 per cent of the time on free throws.

Silas hit 11 of 11 free throws in racking up his 21 points.

Cornelius Cash top MAC player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-time All-Conference Cornelius Cash of Bowling Green, who sank 81 per cent of his shots in two games, has been named the Mid-American Conference Basketball Player of the Week.

The 6-foot-7 senior from Dayton, Ohio, made 17 of his 21 field goal attempts and scored 37 points in a 64-60 victory over Western Michigan and an 83-79 loss to Cincinnati.

By DENISE DRAKE

Keith Allen Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart Jr., of Bloomingburg, is the first featured senior.

Keith enjoys camping and listening to music. He's a member of AFS, FTA, Linguistic Arts, and was selected for "Who's Who Among American High School Students." Mythology and speed reading are his favorite classes.

When asked for his comments Keith replied, "My years at Miami Trace have been very enjoyable and a lot of fun. My advice to underclassmen is to make all the friends you can and enjoy yourself because the years go by fast."

Keith's future plans are not definite but he states that he will most likely attend Ohio State University and major in architecture.

Our next featured senior is Keith A. Holbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Argus Holbrook, of 2169 Prairie Road.

Keith is active in Junior Leadership for two years, 4-H for nine years where he had held the office of president and treasurer, Bowling Club two years, Pep band one year, concert band and Symphonic band for two years, marching band for four years, Folksingers, one year and Dramatic Arts for two years. He was also selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students and he also held a major role in the cast of this year's fall play "We Shook the Family Tree," as the boy with the knickers!

His favorite subjects are advanced math and band. His hobby is bowling.

After graduation Keith plans to enter Ohio State University and major in accounting.

"I feel my years at Miami Trace have been terrific. I'm just sorry I didn't get involved in the extra-curricular activities earlier," were the comments of Pamela Kay Straley daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Straley, of Jeffersonville.

Pam is active in Folksingers of which she has been a member of for two years, F.N.A., three years, Dramatic Arts and F.T.A. Her favorite class was English composition with Mrs. Bailo. She enjoys swimming, bowling, and reading.

Her future plans are to enter technical school of a school of nursing to become a licensed practical nurse.

Transit firm wins

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Queen City Metro, Cincinnati's municipally-owned transit system, has won a $10.2 million federal grant to renovate facilities at the abandoned Cincinnati Union Terminal for a headquarters.

Energy crisis eyed

By RICK PFEIFER

The Miami Trace Science Club held its first meeting of 1975 recently. The topic of the meeting was "The Energy Crisis One Year Later," and the guest speaker was Professor Edwin Gerlach, of Muskingum College.

Professor Gerlach stated that we are ending the era of cheap, plentiful energy and beginning the era of a shortage of energy. Overpopulation and the problems of feeding the growing population are growing concerns.

He showed newspaper headlines discussing energy problems and attempts at solution. He talked about oil transport of the future, such as supertankers, and the problems involved. He told of oil in rock and the difficulties in extracting it.

He said that coal had problems of its own, such as getting it out of the ground. He discussed pollution problems with coal, such as mercury and high sulphur content. He said that transportation — getting people to and from work — is a major user of oil.

He ended with a forecast of the future. Greater use of atomic power and cars with better mileage are examples of ways of meeting the world's growing energy needs.

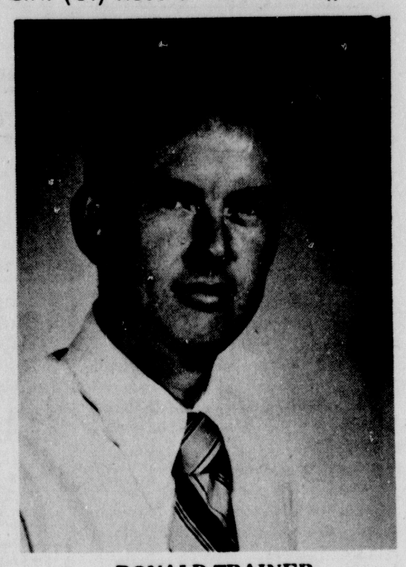

Introducing . .

By DANNY PEARCE

When Mr. Donald Trainer moved from a smaller school to Miami Trace last fall, he thought he would have problems adjusting. But he says now that he is "very much impressed" with Miami Trace. "I like the students and faculty," he says, "and am very pleased."

Mr. Trainer graduated from Rio Grande College where he majored in mathematics. He went on to receive his master's degree at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Mr. Trainer's helpful and witty personality makes him easy to get along with in and out of the class room. This year he is teaching four intermediate math classes and two geometry classes. He is single and lives in Washington C.H.

Miller buys land

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Illinois Cereal Mills, Inc., one of the country's largest dry corn millers, has bought a 430-acre tract in northwest Marion, the state Department of Economic and Community Development has announced.

Illinois Cereal of Paris, Ill., manufacturers products from corn and is a key supplier to such industries as breakfast foods, snacks, distilling and foundry.

Massive food waste shown among young school pupils

CAMARILLO, Calif. (AP) — An elementary school principal in this agricultural community became distressed by watching pupils toss most or part of their lunches into the garbage can.

To dramatize the waste, principal Jerry Moynihan gathered the pupils and teachers of Pleasant Valley school around a picnic table during a recent lunch hour. He dumped the contents of the nearest trash can onto the table.

Among other items, out rolled large, unpeeled oranges, shiny red apples with not a bite missing and an assortment of neatly wrapped sandwiches.

Sixth grader Arlene Medina prepared the official inventory:

There were 41 sandwiches, two burritos, two cartons of milk, two whole pieces of chicken, three bags of potato chips, 19 apples, 13 oranges, one piece of cake, a half can of chocolate pudding, four carrot pieces, a piece of Mexican bread, two small boxes of raisins, 19 pieces of candy and 14 cookies.

After the demonstration, Moynihan sent a letter to the parents of his 430 pupils, itemizing what had been found. And teachers launched lessons on food waste and nutrition — a logical subject in the fertile rural area which grows tomatoes, strawberries and lettuce.

"Since we did this, parents have been saying, 'Wow, I didn't know this was happening,'" says Moynihan. "The kids were impressed. Seeing it was the dramatic part of it."

He said the waste indicates that parents in the town 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles may be overpacking their children's lunch bags — or packing the wrong things.

"Kids tend to eat the goodies first," then lose their appetites for sandwiches and fruit, Moynihan said.

"You don't see too many Twinkies among the discarded food," he added, referring to a variety of commercial cake which parents often pack in school lunches.

Opening lead - jack of spades.

Let's assume you're in three notrump and West leads a spade. You count your tricks and see seven of them. The hearts may be divided 3-3, which offers a chance for an eighth trick, and there is also the prospect of a winning diamond finesse for a ninth trick.

But these possibilities, though real, are not as promising as the chance of developing two club tricks by forcing out the A-K. Furthermore, if the hearts are actually divided 3-3 and the diamond finesse is onside, these favorable conditions will still be available later on.

You win the jack of spades with the queen, play a heart to the queen, and lead a low club. You hope East will follow low and West will win the trick with the ace or king, because in that case you'll have nine sure tricks by simply forcing out the other high club, whatever West returns.

Unfortunately, East very cleverly goes up with the ace of clubs at trick three and returns the jack of diamonds, attacking your number one weak spot. You had hoped this wouldn't occur, which was one of the reasons you started the clubs from dummy's hand rather than your own. However, it did occur.

You can't afford to finesse the queen, so you play the ace. You refuse the finesse because if East has the king the contract is ice-cold, whatever you do at this point. But if West has the king you could be defeated by a diamond continuation from West if you finessed.

You next play a club and, as West has the king, you make the contract. Your queen of diamonds is not subject to attack with West on lead. Whatever he returns, you are certain of at least nine tricks.

Speaking of Your Health...

Fainting Spells Need Checking

We have been married for two years. Recently, with little or no apparent provocation, my wife faints.

It's a frightening thing to see. She doesn't think it's important enough to see a doctor.

Mr. E.E.A., Wis.

Dear Mr. A.:

Obviously, you do believe that it is important enough and certainly you must make every effort to induce your wife to find the reason for these attacks of fainting.

There may not be any underlying medical problem. For there are a great many people who faint and temporarily lose consciousness after any emotional upset.

What happens when a person faints? A sudden reduction in the amount of blood that normally circulates to the brain is responsible for fainting, or "syncope."

Because the temporary reduction in the blood flow is responsible, the victim should be placed flat, with the head slightly lower than the rest of the body. This encourages a greater flow of blood to the brain.

Belts, ties, bras and tight undergarments should be loosened.

Important: Under no circumstances should liquor be forced down the throat of someone who has fainted.

Calmness and encouragement to the victim are greater contributions than liquor.

Let me reiterate that a visit to the doctor is essential to rule out low blood sugar, low blood pressure or problems of circulation that may be responsible for these fainting spells.

I'm confused by the term so commonly used about antibiotics. When they are referred to as "broad spectrum" what does that mean?

Miss D.L., Ill.

Dear Miss L.:

The term "broad spectrum" does not mean that the disease for which the antibiotic is being used is particularly severe. Nor does it mean that the antibiotic is especially strong or a rare variety.

It means that that particular antibiotic has been proven to be effective in destroying a wide variety of bacteria.

Most antibiotics are, in essence, "broad spectrum." When there is a suspicious type of infection, special culture studies are made in an effort to find the exact antibiotic that can exert the greatest potency against the particular germ.

Highland Countians charged in traffic ticket larceny

A 21-year-old Highland County woman and two Highland County girls have been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with petty larceny in connection with the theft of six traffic tickets from a sheriff's cruiser.

Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said the trio stole the tickets from a ticketbook while they were being transported to the county jail in connection with another incident.

After posting bond the three were freed, but the missing tickets had not been discovered yet. But, when the trio was arrested later by the Greenfield police officers, four of the tickets were recovered in their possession and the others later found.

Charged with petty theft from the incident were Carol L. Mustard, of Greenfield, and two juvenile girls from Hillsboro, ages 13 and 15. The girls are being held in the Highland County juvenile detention facility and the adult is presently lodged in the female quarters of the Fayette County jail after receiving a $50 fine and a three-month sentence in the county jail, which was suspended for three years probation.

Ms. Mustard is expected to be released after paying the fine.

Compromise with President being eyed by tax writers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional tax writers are still hoping for a compromise with President Ford to delay his oil import tariff program despite Ford's rejection of a new postponement request.

Both Ford and Chairman Al Ullman of the House Ways and Means Committee talked of the need for compromise and conciliation after a White House meeting of congressional leaders Tuesday.

But Ford said he was adamant that the first phase of the tariff, a $1 increase on each barrel of imported oil, would go into effect Saturday. And Ullman's committee moved another step forward with a bill to force the President to delay the tariffs, which would total $3 per barrel of imported oil by April 1.

The Ways and Means Committee voted 17-16 to send the bill to the House Rules Committee with a recommendation that it be cleared for a House vote next week. The bill would retroactively repeal the tariff hike and delay it for 90 days. The measure also authorizes an increase in the federal debt ceiling, a step needed to permit the government to borrow.

Republicans talked of a certain veto for such a combined bill. Ullman, D-Ore., said he thinks Congress could not override a veto of a combined measure.

The President "has his problems, we've got ours," Ullman said. "We both agree a confrontation would not be good for him, for Congress or for the country ... we'll have further conversations through the week."

He said he hopes the ingredients of compromise "would be that in return for some real commitments in Congress, the President might go along with a deferral." A deadlock over the issue could mean the nation will be in "a crisis on the debt ceiling, and he'll sacrifice months in working out an energy package," Ullman said.

Ford's imposition of a tariff would begin pushing up gasoline and heating oil prices within a matter of weeks. But Ullman said he understood that "there will be no fees collected before the end of February, because of the mechanics involved."

Meanwhile, Ullman unveiled a package as an alternative to Ford's $16 billion tax-cut proposal. His measure proposed an $18 billion tax reduction and Ullman said it is "imperative that we have a tax cut of at least this magnitude."

Ullman's package includes a $6 billion, 10 per cent rebate for 1974 taxes for most taxpayers.

Ullman's plan also would increase standard deductions, hike the investment tax credit to 10 per cent; and provide other corporate tax benefits.

Details of how these proposals would apply to individuals were not immediately clear.

However, it was known that Ullman's bill would raise the minimum standard deduction from $1,300 to $1,900 for single returns and $2,500 for joint ones; increase the percentage standard deduction by hiking the rate to 16 per cent from 15 per cent, and by boosting the maximum amount from $2,000 to $2,500 for single returns and $3,000 for joint ones.

Police probing break-in case

A breaking and entering incident and a bicycle larceny were reported by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a copper wire theft.

A garage located at the rear of the Bill Penwell residence, 742 Washington Ave., was broken into sometime Monday night by vandals, who knocked over the motorcycles within, damaging the mirrors.

Entry was obtained by breaking a 20 inch by 30 inch window and removing the screen. Nothing has been determined missing; however, police investigation is continuing.

A 10-speed bicycle valued at $100 and owned by Steve Pritchet, 817 Rawlings St., which was stolen from Washington C.H. Middle School sometime between 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, has been recovered.

Police did not state where the bike was found, but did report the time as 9:17 p.m.

Ten spans of copper wire measuring 1,800 feet, were cut from Dayton Power and Light Co. poles on Prairie Road, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. It is not known when the theft occurred.

Petty larceny charge filed

A 16-year-old Mentor boy has been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with petty larceny in connection with the theft of over 22 gallons of gasoline from the Sunoco service I-71 and Ohio 38, at 5:58 a.m. Wednesday.

Sheriff Donald L. Thompson explained the youth had ordered the gas and then left without paying. Deputy D. L. Cox located the vehicle and subject at the southbound rest area on I-71 in Fayette County and made the arrest.

A computer check revealed the youth had no operator's license and was wanted by the Lake County juvenile authorities. Additional charges of petty larceny are expected to be filed by the service station owner.

The boy is presently incarcerated in the Fayette County juvenile detention facility on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and the warrant from Lake County.

In 1972, there were 58.4 telephones per 100 people in North America compared with the world average of 7.8 per 100 people.

Unseasonably warm weather moved into Ohio overnight, bringing temperatures into the 50s in the north and the 60s in the Ohio valley. Rain, showers and thundershowers fell across the entire state, with locally heavy amounts in some areas.

A storm center located in southern Lake Michigan was behind the unusual weather activity. The center was forecast to bring cooler air into the state by afternoon, dropping temperatures into the 30s by evening and the 20s by Thursday morning. Some snow flurries are forecast in the northern part of the state by Thursday.

Fair Friday and Saturday and a chance of rain or snow Sunday. Highs in the 30s and 40s. Lows in the 20s.

Check defendants fined by judge

Acting Municipal Court Judge Omar A. Schwart Tuesday fined two women on charges of issuing bad checks to two Washington C.H. businesses.

Laura J. Hoppes, 31, Greenfield, pleaded no contest to the charge of issuing a bad check in the amount of $5.18 to Buckeye Mart and was fined $50. A three-month jail sentence was suspended on the condition of three years good behavior.

J. Shirley Knapp, 39, of 1228 High St., pleaded not guilty but changed her plea to guilty Tuesday on a charge of passing a bad check for $10.03 to Mari Lee Flowers.

She was also fined $50 and given a suspended three-month jail sentence pending three years good behavior.

Contributing charge filed

A Fayette County man has been arrested by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and charged with contributing to the unruliness of a minor.

Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported Larry Watts, 24, was charged after an investigation into a New Year's Eve party at his Ohio 41-S residence. Several Fayette County youths were present, consuming alcohol during the evening and many complaints were filed with the sheriff's department the following day by their parents, Sheriff Thompson stated.

Watts is a former sports editor for the Washington C.H. Record Herald.

Levi nomination comes under fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right-wing and left-wing groups plan to attack Atty. Gen.-designate Edward H. Levi's alleged ties to Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller in testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

In testimony prepared for today, the ultraleftist U.S. Labor party accused Levi of protecting Rockefeller family business interests while he was a Justice Department antitrust official during World War II.

And its political opposite, the Liberty Lobby, cited news reports that Rockefeller influenced President Ford's nomination of Levi and pointed out that the school now headed by Levi, the University of Chicago, was founded by the vice president's grandfather, John D. Rockefeller.

"How convenient it is for Nelson to pick the president of his grandfather's school to be our attorney general," a Liberty Lobby official said today in prepared testimony.

Representatives of the National Congress of American Indians and the Chicago Property Owners Association also were scheduled to testify today in the third day of committee hearings on Levi's nomination to succeed William B. Saxbe as attorney general.

Committee members ended their questioning of Levi on Tuesday. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he hopes the committee can vote on the nomination later this week.

In prepared testimony, Labor party spokesman Tony Chaitkiw questioned Levi's work on a government consent decree which forced the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey to discontinue certain agreements with the I.G. Farben Co., a German chemical firm.

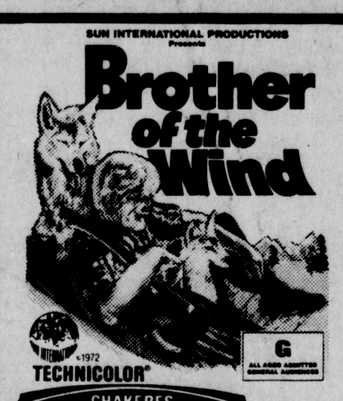

Standard and Farben entered joint development and marketing arrangements in 1929, and those pacts remained in effect after the war began.

A Senate committee investigated the liaison in 1941 and a year later, Standard and the Justice Department reached an agreement requiring Standard to terminate most of the agreements with Farben.

During the war years, the department supervised the management of the chemical corporation which had been jointly owned by the two parent companies. Levi had an important role in preparing the consent decree.

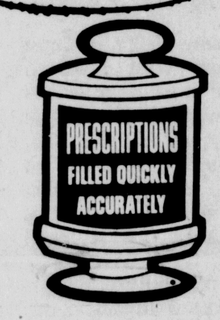

"The outcome was not simply a whitewash, personally engineered to a large extent by Mr. Edward H. Levi," the Labor party alleged. "It was a series of arrangements whereby the United States government ran interference for the construction of a worldwide cartel by the Rockefellers." John D. Rockefeller, the family patriarch, founded Standard Oil.

The Liberty Lobby also accused Levi of being soft on campus demonstrators at the University of Chicago.
